BRITAIN RENEWS NON-INTERVENTION PLEDGE

U.S. Commission With Unions' Pacific Coast Call Postponed, Sets Fact-finding Session For Monday

New Conferences Between Two Sides

Associated Press

San Francisco, Oct. 29.—The Maritime Commission postponed its fact-finding session today until Monday to permit negotiations to proceed in efforts to halt a threatened Pacific Coast maritime strike at midnight.

"As long as there is hope for both sides to get together I do not wish to delay negotiations," said Rear-Admiral Harry G. Hamlet of the commission.

Representatives of both sides did not object to the postponement and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady moved immediately to arrange hurried meetings.

McGrady and E. H. Fitzgerald and E. P. Marsh, federal conciliators, conferred and McGrady said he would attempt to have the unions' joint negotiating committee meet with the shipowners' committee. Later he hoped to arrange a conference between the Sailors' Union of the Pacific and the shipowners.

McGrady said the same terms, including wage increases, as offered the sailors, fireman and cooks and stewards by steam schooner operators would be proposed to the shipowners.

Admiral Hamlet was to confer with Joseph J. Webb, attorney for the commission. Admiral Hamlet asked both sides to present documents for study.

Earlier today unexpected news had come that resumed negotiations between seagoing unions and one of three groups of steamship companies had extended through the night and brought such success, the walkout set for last midnight had been postponed until midnight tonight by a joint negotiating committee of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific.

"Negotiations are progressing favorably," the committee said in informing all district councils of the postponement. "Unless by 9 p.m. no satisfactory arrangement is reached the strike will take effect at midnight."

Japan Emperor Reviews Fleet

Associated Press

Kobe, Japan, Oct. 29.—Extraordinary precautions were taken here and at Osaka to keep unauthorized persons from observing Japanese grand fleet manoeuvres.

More than 100 war vessels, aggregating about 600,000 tons of sea strength, sailed majestically before Emperor Hirohito while hundreds of airplanes and seaplanes roared overhead.

The naval parade was a spectacular climax of three months of fleet practices.

T. C. NORRIS PASSES AWAY

Canadian Press

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Almost simultaneously with the formal finish of his forty years in public life, T. C. Norris, former Premier of Manitoba, died here early today following an illness of several months. His term as member of the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada expired last month when he reached the age of 75.

Mr. Norris, Manitoba's Liberal government leader from 1915 to 1922, had been seriously ill since June, when he came here from Ottawa to spend his last days with a close friend, George Hodgins. His condition had been regarded as critical for several weeks.

While he automatically ceased to be a railway commissioner last month on reaching the statutory age limit, no announcement of his retirement was made.

OCCASIONAL RALLIES

Mr. Norris became ill in Ottawa of a slight brain hemorrhage. His condition was complicated by heart disease that became steadily worse during the autumn. Close friends, encouraged only slightly by occasional rallies, had small hope that complete recovery was possible.

For several days his condition had remained unchanged. Death occurred at 5.10 a.m.

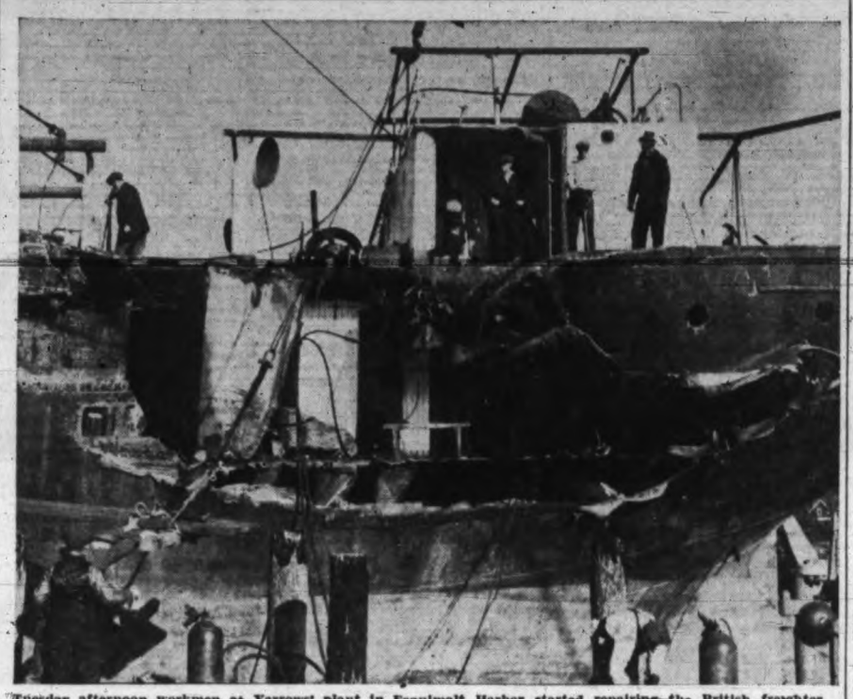
Big Repair Job Under Way at Esquimalt



Tuesday afternoon workmen at Yarrows' plant in Esquimalt Harbor started repairing the British freighter Temple Moat, damaged in collision early Saturday morning. The picture shows the gaping hole torn in the freighter's port quarter. Cabins of members of the crew were smashed to splinters, but no one was injured. Repairs will taken twenty-one days, with day and night shifts working. The job is one of the biggest undertaken by Yarrows in recent years.

Economic Control Laid Down As Aim For Connell Group

Leader of the Opposition Sets Out Proposals of His Party in Legislature; Would Remove Evils of Capitalism But Sees Capital as Necessary; Constructive Co-operation Policy Necessary

"What we need is a definite step forward in the management and control of our economic forces. Such a move would be like an awakening from the dead in our ordinary contentment with the 'God of Things As They Are' It is the determination fixed and unalterable of the group for whom I speak today to leave no stone unturned to bring about that resurrection."

Speaking in the Legislature this afternoon, Rev. Robert Connell, Leader of the Opposition, gave this as the policy keynote of the group of four which he leads as recalcitrants from the C.C.F. party.

Contrary to expectation the Opposition Leader made little reference to the recent split between himself and the C.C.F. executive but devoted his time to laying out what he thought would be done by his party.

He referred to his party as the "Social Constructives."

"What we require in British Columbia today is a group or party of men and women who will be united by a definite principle of action directed towards the establishment of a new economic order and proceeding by a clear-cut policy of constructive co-operation towards that goal," he said.

"Of such an alliance we already have the nucleus in the official opposition I have the honor to lead. Small as it is it will grow and in its hands the future wellbeing of our people lies.

"With no fantastic notion of bringing Utopia by act of Parliament or by revolutionary coup d'etat it will work constructively and sanely towards its end, preserving always personal

Australia Seeks Market Control

Canadian Press via Reuter's

Canberra, Australia, Oct. 29.—A bill aiming at restoration to the Commonwealth of control of marketing was given third reading today in the House of Representatives by 45 votes to 21.

The bill seeks to reverse a recent Privy Council decision which upset government schemes for the marketing of Australian produce. It is designed to add to the constitution, after a referendum, a new subsection authorizing Commonwealth control of marketing.

Labor amendments seeking to include in the referendum granting government powers over industry with a view to establishing a forty-hour week throughout Australia were defeated.

U.S. Planes To Bar Out Aliens

Washington, Oct. 29.—Purchase of a small fleet of speedy pursuit planes to break up the fast-growing racket of smuggling aliens into the United States by airplane is being considered by the labor department's immigration service.

"We're going to have to fight fire with fire," said Irving R. Wixon, deputy commissioner, today.

William Powell Has Eye Trouble

Actor to Consult Specialists on Lesion Resulting From Over-exposure

Associated Press

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 29.—Seriously worried over his eyesight, William Powell said today he would leave for New York immediately on completion of a new picture to consult specialists.

A lesion, doctors said, is forming on the left eyeball.

They diagnosed it as being the result of over-exposure to the sun, incurred a month ago when Powell was on a fishing trip. At that time, he was forced to stay in a totally dark room for several days. Work on the picture was suspended.

The condition of his eye now is worse rather than better, the actor said.

"It feels as though there is a constant twitching inside the eyeball," Powell said. "The irritation is driving me out of my mind."

William Powell late in the summer spent some time in company with Ronald Colman on a fishing expedition among the Gulf islands and around Jervis Inlet. They were quartered on board a chartered yacht, and touched at Vancouver Island points on their way home.

Former Manitoba M.P.P. Ends Life

Eden Warns Rival Groups Supplying Spain Create Danger of General War

Britain Will Not Depart From Non-intervention Policy Nor Take Sides in Struggle on Iberian Peninsula, Foreign Secretary Tells Commons When It Reassembles in London; To Confine Hostilities to Spain, He Says, Is Europe's Chief Task

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Oct. 29.—Great Britain stands by non-intervention in the Spanish civil war, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told an eagerly attentive House of Commons this afternoon.

The alternative, he said, would be rival grouping of powers supplying arms to one side or the other in Spain.

It would mean confusion. It would mean international recriminations. It might mean war.

The House reassembled after the long recess in an inquisitive mood. When the question paper was exhausted, private notices of questions were showered on the ministers. Every bench was packed. In the crowded gallery for distinguished visitors Prime Minister Mackenzie King sat with Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain.

Labor had asked for a discussion on the Spanish situation. But Labor's sudden reversal of front on the supply of arms had placed it in a disadvantageous debating position from the outset. A joint session of Labor Party leaders and the Trades Union Council yesterday decided aid should be given the Spanish Government.

NO BRITISH PRESSURE

Mr. Eden told the whole story of the international agreement on non-intervention. He sharply denied that the French initiative in proposing the agreement last August was the result of British pressure. The purpose of the agreement was not to help one side or the other, but to prevent civil war from crossing the frontiers and involving the whole of Europe, he said.

BLUM PRAISED

He praised the initiative of the Blum government as "an act of rare courage." He challenged the view taken by certain critics that the agreement worked to the disadvantage of the Madrid Government. At the opening of the civil war, Mr. Eden said, the insurgents were in a better position than the Madrid Government with regard to the supply of arms and equipment. They likewise were better disciplined.

FROM ITALY AND GERMANY

Assuming there had been no agreement, then, Mr. Eden contended, Italy and Germany would have been in a better position to supply the insurgents than either Britain or France would have been to supply the Madrid Government. Italy furthermore was better placed than Russia as a source of supply for Spain.

Russia was the chief complainant that the agreement was violated. The Russian complaint was directed chiefly against Portugal—the smallest of the powers concerned, he said. Russia even had suggested that British ships should keep watch on Portuguese ports.

WINS APPEAL ON SPEEDING

Judge Overrules Judgment Against C. J. McDowell

A motorist may drive at a high rate of speed without being guilty of driving to the common danger, according to a judgment handed down in County Court today by Judge A. M. Harper, Vancouver.

The judge quashed the police court conviction against C. J. McDowell on that charge.

Mr. McDowell was arraigned in city police court and convicted on July 26 last.

In police court and later in County Court, Constable Joseph Addison testified Mr. McDowell had been driving between fifty-five and sixty miles an hour along the Douglas Street stretch leading to the city limits.

In his judgment today, Judge Harper said the onus of proof that the driver was proceeding in a careful and prudent manner lay on the appellant.

On the Sunday morning in which the alleged offence was committed the pavement was dry, visibility good, there was no traffic and Mr. McDowell's car, a heavy machine, was nearly new and in first class condition, the judge said.

CAPABLE DRIVER

"The appellant is a man in the prime of life, capable in my opinion of exercising the necessary foresight and alertness essential for the efficient handling of a motor car such as this, proceeding at a high rate of speed," he said.

The judge cited the clauses of the Motor Act which reviewed conditions, such as the type of machine, speed, condition of the highway and the amount of traffic, which were to be taken into consideration in common danger charges.

"In reaching a conclusion as to what constitutes driving to the common danger, regard, therefore, must be had not only to the rate of speed, but other attendant circumstances," the judge said, before stating Constable Addison was justified in making the driver prove he was driving safely.

BENEFIT OF DOUBT

"Under the very unusual and exceptional circumstances existing at the time, and in the place where the appellant was overtaken, I am of the opinion that he is entitled to the benefit of the doubt," the judge said. "The surrounding circumstances weigh heavily in his favor."

"The appellant and his wife both state the car was under complete control. This evidence is corroborated by Officer Addison. The highway was devoid of any traffic whatever.

"Under the circumstances the accused is entitled to an acquittal, and the appeal should be allowed but without costs," he concluded.

Russian Tanks On Spain Front

Loyalists Say New Army Gathered to Insurgent Forces From Rear

Associated Press

Paris, Oct. 29.—Informed Spanish sources here tonight said a new government army, equipped with Russian tanks and planes, has been gathered at the southeastern cities of Albacete and Alicante to attack the rear of insurgent armies in time to save Madrid.

Coincident with Premier Francisco Largo Caballero's Madrid announcement that the government now has strong tank and air forces, well-informed government sympathizers in Paris said this army had been organized secretly for weeks.

MANY PLANES

It has more than 110 modern Russian tanks and many new bombing and scouting planes, they asserted.

Motorized columns using the new equipment soon will be sent westward to Aranjuez and thence to Toledo to attack insurgents besieging Madrid from their unguarded rear, it was said.

The new army was stated to be completely equipped with ammunition and supplies, and included many technical experts, some Russian and some from other countries, who volunteered within recent weeks to help Madrid.

Younger Captains For Large Liners

Sir Edgar Britten's Death Brings Decision Cunard-White Star Commanders Will Retire at Sixty; Capt. R. Peel Takes Ship Out to New York

Southampton, Eng., Oct. 29.—R.M.S. Queen Mary, fastest of ocean liners, steamed toward New York today under command of Capt. Reginald Peel, flags half-masted for her first master, Commodore Sir Edgar Britten who died suddenly yesterday.

The veteran Sir Edgar was to have retired next April at the age of sixty-three and Capt. Peel was in line to succeed him. Cunard-White Star Line officials predicted to-day that, owing to the strain of commanding modern superliners the retirement age would in future be fixed at sixty.

Two hours before sailing time yesterday a steward walked into Sir Edgar's cabin and found him dying on the floor. He had suffered a stroke while dressing to take the great ship out of the harbor on her way to New York. He was taken ashore to a nursing home, but died

TREATS PATIENT THROUGH RADIO

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Oct. 29.—One of the north's strangest dramas was being enacted today as two Canadian Airways radio operators enabled an Edmonton physician to reach out across 830 miles of wild, almost uninhabited northland to treat a patient lying seriously ill in an inaccessable mining camp on the north shore of Great Slake Lake.

Stricken with heart attacks, Jim Parres, twenty-four, was stretched out on a bunk in a frame shack on the Burwash-Yellowknife gold mine camp at Yellowknife Bay while companions administered treatment ordered by Dr. C. G. Geggie of Edmonton.

The Edmonton doctor is being handicapped by the lack of medicines in the mining camp. Whisky is about the only stimulant available.

Parres caught a severe cold early this month and five days ago he developed heart trouble. Medical treatment by wireless began today.

"In-between" season in the far north, which halts airplane travel, has cut the mining camp off from all outside communication except wireless.

TRY TO FORM NEUTRAL BLOC

Move For Union of Eastern European States From Baltic to Mediterranean

Canadian Press from Havas

Bucharest, Oct. 29.—A campaign for establishment of a powerful bloc of eastern European states extending from the Baltic to the Mediterranean and pledged to a policy of absolute neutrality was under way here today.

The campaign is sponsored by George Bratiano, leader of the dissident Liberals of Roumania, who split with the government party in 1930 over the question of the return of King Carol to the throne.

Bratiano's plan envisages a bloc of nations, including the Baltic Entente—Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania, Poland, the Little Entente—Roumania, Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia—and eventually Turkey and Greece.

Reasons advanced for adoption of the new plan were:

1. Increasing fears that the policy of collective security through the League of Nations was weak.

2. Concern that Roumania might be drawn into a conflict between Germany and the Soviet Union.

3. The recent announcement by King Leopold of Belgium's new neutrality policy.

4. German propaganda striving to create a breach between Roumania and the Soviet Union and also to upset the Czechslovak-Soviet mutual assistance pact.

MOLLISON LEAVES NEWFOUNDLAND ON FLIGHT TO LONDON

British Flier Takes Off From Harbor Grace on Second Leg of Attempted New York-England Record Journey

Canadian Press

Harbor Grace, Nfld., Oct. 29.—Capt. James A. Mollison took off at 3.40 o'clock, E.S.T. (12.40 o'clock, P.S.T.), this afternoon on the second leg of his New York-London flight.

Threatening skies had kept him grounded this morning as he waited beside his speedy Bellanca monoplane ready to fly to London as soon as weather conditions brightened.

He spent the morning chatting with airport officials and superintending placing of supplies aboard the Dorothy in which he hopes to make a New York-London czrossing in 17½ flying hourse.

Pension Bill Over Million a Year

Pensions of various kinds and superannuation funds cost the provincial government $1,296,514 during the last fiscal year, it was shown in the public accounts tabled in the Legislature this week.

The province's share was $510,208, out of a total of $2,263,309 paid in old age pensions in British Columbia. The Dominion Government foots the major share of this bill.

The total paid out in mothers' pensions was $616,554, of which the province contributed $403,558 and municipal treasuries $212,996.

In addition to these direct payments, the government contributed $337,748 toward the civil service superannuation fund and $25,000 to the teachers' superannuation fund.

Shorter Week Move Opposed

Wardens Against Firemen's Application For Reduced Hours

The city fire wardens yesterday afternoon decided to recommend to the City Council that the application by the British Columbia Provincial Association of Firefighters for reduced working hours, be opposed.

The firefighters have filed their application with the provincial government, asking two full days off each week for all members of forces.

"We have no jurisdiction over the application," Alderman T. W. S. Hawkins, chairman of the fire wardens said today. The only action the city could take, he said, would be to oppose passage of such legislation in the Provincial House. The meeting yesterday was attended by all members of the council.

CANNOT AFFORD MOVE

"We cannot afford to make the move at present," Alderman Hawkins said. The proposed change would mean the addition of ten or twelve men to the staff. That would necessitate payment of salaries and provision of uniforms etc. to the new men. I don't begrudge the men their salaries, but the city just cannot afford any heavier expenditure at present."

The chairman also stated New Westminster council was opposed to the move.

In explanation of the action in Vancouver, Alderman Hawkins said the Terminal City had shortened hours to absorb firemen who would have been thown out of employment when some of the halls were shut down.

Final decision on the matter rests with the provincial government. The firemen's organization has filed its application and the city may make its representations.

West Coast Road Building Urged

Construction of the West Coast Road as an outlet for 8,000,000,000 feet of merchantable timber was urged by F. D. Davey, speaking to Ward Four Liberal Association at headquarters last night.

The timber business would more than pay for the cost of the road, he said, and its value as a tourist attraction must also be considered. For a twenty-two foot roadway the estimated cost was $30,000 a mile.

Archie McKinnon, physical director of the Y.M.C.A., was the other speaker, describing his trip to the Olympic Games in Berlin and highlights of the sports there.

Members of the association were instructed to get their membership cards by November 5 to be eligible to vote at the annual election of the central executive on November 19.

London's gas supply is piped in more than 6,400 miles of mains, and is made by carbonizing 4,097,600 tons of coal annually.

Success Claimed In Plane Building

British Air Ministry Replies to Lord Nuffield's Criticism of Its Plans For Speedy Making of Motors

London, Oct. 29. — The Air Ministry put its position in the Nuffield controversy before the public today in anticipation of opposition questions with the reconvening of Parliament this afternoon.

The government white paper, issued yesterday evening, confined comment to the technical reasons for the Air Ministry's stand, and made no allusion to the angry exchange reported to have taken place at an interview between Baron Nuffield, head of the Morris Motor Industries, and the Secretary of State for Air, Viscount Swinton, at which Lord Nuffield denounced "political interest" in the Air Ministry and told Lord Swinton: "God help you in case of war."

WITHDREW FROM SCHEME

The controversy started when one of Lord Nuffield's companies, Wolseley Motors Limited., withdrew from a government scheme for the erection of six government-owned factories, to be operated by six motor companies, for the production of airplane engines. One factory would make pistons, another cylinders, and so on. Lord Nuffield declared this plan unworkable. The bombing of one factory in time of war would throw the whole scheme into disorder, he held.

CONSIDERED PRACTICAL

The burden of the government's reply was that the scheme was that put forward by experienced firms, which were making themselves responsible for its execution as a plan which in their considered opinion was the most practicable in all circumstances.

Lord Nuffield wished that each of the participating firms should make complete engines. But Lord Austin, chairman of the motor firms committee considered opinion that the only safe and practicable scheme was for each firm to manufacture parts instead of complete engines.

The committee for imperial defence has now allocated the Morris factories to the War Office in view of the demands for mechanization of the army. Prime Minister Baldwin and Lord Nuffield talked over the situation at length at 10 Downing Street yesterday.

FIRMS NAMED

The air ministry's statement said the four firms supplying the ministry's requirements were Armstrong-Siddeley, Bristol Aeroplanes, Napiers and Rolls-Royce. The government in its expansion scheme decided against a multiplicity of types and selected engines of high quality performance. Provision of necessary engines for the expansion programme was well within the capacity of these firms and delivery of engines now being made was very satisfactory.

Under the 1936 expansion programme it was decided to produce a large number of Bristol type engines, largely for reserve. Therefore the government resolved to bring in outside firms. Under the production scheme, it was arranged that Wolseley should co-operate with six other firms in manufacturing parts for Bristol engines.

Canary Is Eaten By Oil Worker

Associated Press

Tyler, Texas, Oct. 29.—A brawny oil field roustabout walked into a Gladewater cafe, blared at the waiter and demanded fried chicken.

Eyeing a bird cage, the roustabout asked, "How much for that canary?"

"Sold," said the customer. "Cook the canary and put in plenty of gravy."

He picked the tiny bird clean and stalked out.

Wants Game and Drink at Meals

English Visitor to Cowichan Bay Tells Publicity Bureau Restrictions In Force Here Are Not Conducive to Ordinary Good Living

Writing from Cowichan Bay to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, an English visitor complains of regulations which prevents a person "who is fond of ordinary good living from going to a shop to buy pheasants or partridges when he feels like it."

He also resents the restrictions which bar people staying at hotels from having a cocktail or other stimulant served with their meals.

"When you have for years had a batman and have lived in the West Indies, where everything is done for you and servants are not too big to clean your boots, being forced to do things for yourself, gets your goat," he said, explaining that he could get a first class cook or chauffeur in Barbadoes for $90 a year.

He thinks that hotels which advertise golf played on courses six or eight miles away should be compelled to pay the taxi charges.

He condemns, very definitely, the wholesale logging of the country's valuable timber. "This logged out Vancouver Island will one day look like a battlefield," he said.

"It's certainly a beautiful spot here and we are having grand weather," he said.

But he thought the New Forest in England was the equal of any scenery out here.

INJURIES HIT CRICKET TEAM

Leading Players on M.C.C. Squad Touring Australia Are Laid Low

Adelaide, Australia, Oct. 29.—Injuries and illness are weakening the M.C.C. team visiting Australia and the tour has only just started. Examination here revealed the R. E. S. Wyatt, popular Warwickshire amateur and captain, suffered a definite fracture of the ulna, about two inches from the wrist, in the game against Clare yesterday. The bone was reset today, but Wyatt is not likely to play for six weeks.

Wyatt is the third member of the team to suffer a major injury. R. W. V. Robins, Middlesex spin bowler, and George Duckworth, veteran Lancashire wicketkeeper, both had fingers hurt in the opening matches at Perth. Robins is not likely to play for a month, but Duckworth may be back in the team in a week or so.

Illness resulted in Leslie Ames being sent on to Melbourne from Perth by boat to avoid the tedious rail journey across the continent. The Kent player in addition to being one of the strongest batsmen on the team is also a first-class wicketkeeper.

Movie Producer Heading South

Kenneth J. Bishop, president and producer of Central Films Limited, left this morning for Hollywood with Mrs. Bishop and their daughter.

Mr. Bishop had been in Victoria for the greater part of a month taking stock of equipment at the Willows studio and working with Reginald Hincks, local casting director, on the script of a lengthy serial, provisionally entitled "The Invisible Ray," production of which will begin shortly.

It is expected Mr. Bishop will return from the south in two or three weeks' time either shortly ahead of or accompanied by the leading actors and technical crew of the serial, which will run to fifteen episodes and thirty-one reels.

On his arrival here, Mr. Bishop announced plans for the making of two pictures of regular length following the serial. This schedule is expected to carry the company through until February.

MORE BUYING ON PRAIRIES

Retail Sales in 1935 Increased 6 Per Cent Over Previous Year

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—People on the prairies had more money to spend last year than in either of the two previous years, according to a survey by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics which shows retail sales in the three prairie provinces amounted to almost $385,000,000 in 1935. That was 6 per cent higher than in 1934 and 16 per cent above 1933.

Percentage increase was about the same for all. Here is how the three provinces compared, with 1934 figures in brackets: Manitoba $137,533,000 ($129,847,000) Saskatchewan $119,137,000 ($111,637,000), Alberta $128,202,000 ($120,413,000).

MORE AUTOS BOUGHT

Consistent with the results for other sections, the greatest improvement in 1935 over 1934 was reported by automotive establishments, furnishing dealers and by dealers in hardware or other building supplies.

Much smaller gains were recorded by food stores, country general stores and the general merchandise group of stores, kinds of business which experienced a smaller reduction in business during the depression years.

Aggregate sales of the automotive group of establishments for the prairie provinces as a whole, and including the business of motor vehicle dealers, garages, service stations, etc., showed an increase of 18 per cent; the furniture and household group was up by 13 per cent, while the building materials group was up by 8 per cent. Grocery and combination store sales increased by 4 per cent; country general store sales were up by 3 per cent, and department store sales increased by 3 per cent.

World Affairs Find Prominent Place on Platforms of Both Democratic and Republican Parties As Polling Date Approaches

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Oct. 29.—With the rattle of Old World sabres in their ears, United States voters may be expected to have a sharp eye on the foreign policies of the major parties when they mark their ballots November 3.

President Roosevelt has played a larger part in world affairs than has any other occupant of the White House since the Great War, but that very fact has been raised by the opposition as a point against him. Republicans speak of the "danger of foreign entanglements."

Although he is accused in some quarters of scuttling the London Economic Conference, the President can point to many another step he has taken for the avowed purpose of international as well as national betterment.

Mr. Roosevelt sought to have the United States join the World Court, but failed by seven votes of securing the necessary two-thirds approval of the Senate.

The President declared the country neutral when Italy invaded Ethiopia and banned the shipment of arms and ammunition to the warring nations.

He was a prime mover in organizing the Pan-American peace conference which will convene at Buenos Aires this December. He has expressed the hope the sessions will "banish wars forever from this large portion of the earth."

It has been clearly evident, however, that Republican criticism of Mr. Roosevelt for being "too internationally minded," has not fallen entirely on deaf ears. Europe's default on war debts rankles in many American minds.

The Republican election platform pledges the party to remain obedient to the "repeatedly expressed will of the American people" not to "take on any entangling alliances in foreign affairs."

Governor Landon has promised a G.O.P. victory at the polls would guarantee no "truck with the League of Nations or the World Court. He proposes mediation and arbitration to settle international disputes and co-operation in the reduction of armaments.

The Republican nominee for the presidency is for the doctrine of neutral rights—the stopping of warring nations from interfering with the interests and welfare of neutral nations—rather than the sort of neutrality Mr. Roosevelt adopted during the Ethiopian war.

Mr. Landon has promised legislation to take the profits out of war.

MANY DOING RELIEF WORK

Montreal, Oct. 29 (Canadian Press).—Doyon of the Provincial Department of Labor, said yesterday nearly 4,000 men had been taken off direct relief rolls in the metropolitan district since inauguration less than three weeks ago of the present unemployment relief works programme financed by Quebec and Ottawa.

LABOR FAVORS AID TO MADRID

British Party and Trades Unions Change Attitude on Arms Shipments

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 29.—The British Labor Party and the Trades Union Council, in joint session yesterday, decided aid should be given the Spanish Government in the civil war against the Fascist insurgents.

The decision represented a change in the stand of the Labor Party, which voted at its annual conference early this month to support the government in its non-intervention stand.

A resolution passed at the joint conference said the right of the constitutionally-elected government of Spain to secure the means necessary to uphold its authority and enforce law and order in Spanish territory must be re-established.

The conference decided to call on the British Government, in collaboration with the French Government, immediately to take the initiative in promoting an international arrangement completely to restore to Spain full commercial rights, including the purchase of munitions.

Such a move, the resolution said, would "enable the Spanish people to bring their heroic struggle for liberty and democracy to a victorious conclusion."

Hitch in Debt Reduction Plan

In Alberta Mortgage Holders Refuse to Accept Smaller Sums

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Oct. 29. — Complaints have reached the government that mortgage holders flatly refuse to accept payments from old debtors under the Alberta Debt Reduction and Settlement Act, it was disclosed here by Premier William Aberhart.

Debtors claim this attitude is distressing to them because they are anxious to complete the payment of their debts ahead of the time specified in the act.

The government, it was understood, has given no consideration to the complaints, but it was pointed out there is power to declare a debt moratorium over the whole or any part of the province.

LETTERS RECEIVED

The Premier was asked if he had any knowledge of the complaints.

"Yes, I have," he replied. "I have received a number of letters of this type. I am very sorry this is the case. I was confident nothing more than our debt reduction and settlement legislation would be necessary. I am still convinced that when the various financial organizations, mortgage companies, insurance companies and others fully comprehend the grim necessity of scaling down the principal payments of long outstanding debts, these irritating conditions will cease to exist

BEFORE BOARD

"There may be cases here and there that will need to be referred to the debt adjustment board, so that neither the debtor nor the creditor may take an unfair advantage through the operation of the act."

Asked if the government proposed to invoke the section of the act dealing with a moratorium, the Premier declared that "I have given this matter no consideration, for I believe these difficulties will disappear."

Wide Military Training Urged

War Secretary Cooper Says Boys of 14 in Britain Should Drill

Canadian Press from Haavs

London, Oct. 29.—British youths between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years must be given military training, War Secretary Alfred Duff Cooper said at a luncheon here yesterday.

Attacking persons opposed to new British defence plans, he said they were obliged to admit their policy would involve forcing the country to give way before any stronger nation.

"The necessity of obtaining men," the War Secretary said, "is, I think, the most urgent with which we are faced at the present time."

Large Sum For Italy's Treasury

Associated Press

Rome, Oct. 29.—The Italian government, revised estimates indicate, will realize about 12,500,000,000 lire from the forced loan, virtually a capital levy, decreed by the cabinet when it devalued the lira.

The government will be enriched, on the devalued basis of the lira, about $657,500,000.

The money, financial circles said, would be used largely to finance colonization in East Africa.

Measures To Prevent Riots

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 29.—As a sequel to riots between Fascists and anti-Fascists in London's East End, the Jewish People's Council of Stepney, east London, is drawing up two bills for presentation to Parliament.

One of them, which is based on a Swiss statute, proposes to forbid "racial incitement." The second would ban political uniforms.

But the second will be presented only if a government bill on the same subject is considered inadequate.

Jurors Disagree In Dionne Dolls Case

Associated Press

Lake George, N.Y., Oct. 29.—A State Supreme Court jury reported to Justice Brewster after six hours' deliberation yesterday it was unable to agree whether Louis D. Ginsburg, Glens Falls merchant, had trespassed on the rights of the Dionne Quintuplets by selling dolls resembling the Canadian babies.

Through their guardian, Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare of Ontario, the quintuplets sought $5,000 damages and an injunction to restrain Ginsburg from selling the dolls.

Justice Brewster reserved decision on the motion for an injunction. The suit was brought under the civil rights law, covering the use of names and likenesses of persons without their consent.

French Budget Is $2,116,000,000

Associated Press

Paris, Oct. 29.—An increase of 6,000,000,000 francs ($276,000,000) in the 1937 national budget was forecast yesterday by the French Ministry of Finance.

The ordinary budget (without allowing additional expenditures for armaments) will be more than 46,000,000,000 francs ($2,116,000,000), the ministry declared, compared with the 1936 budget of 40,000,000,000 francs ($1,840,000,000).

Finance Minister Vincent Auriol described next year's budget as "an honest effort" to balance national accounts.

He said the deficit would be approximately 3,500,000,000 francs ($161,000,000) compared with 6,000,000,000 ($276,000,000) this year. This would make the government's regular expenditures only a total of about 3,500,000,000 francs higher next year than in 1936, he said.

Fruit Growers To Make Requests

Canadian Press

Vernon, B.C., Oct. 29.—A delegation of five members of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association and an undetermined number of shippers' representatives will visit Victoria to discuss provincial marketing legislation with Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture.

The growers' committee decided on this action at a meeting here which followed adjournment Tuesday of a joint meeting of the B.C. F.G.A. executive and the tree fruit board in Kelowna.

Alberta River Basin Survey

Associated Press

Lethbridge, Alta., Oct. 29.—A complete survey of the river basins in the Alberta-Montana border country will be undertaken immediately, subject to the approval of Hon. James G. Gardiner, federal Minister of Agriculture, it was learned here yesterday.

The survey will be made to determine how run-off waters, now going to waste, may be conserved to supply water for southern and eastern irrigation projects. The possibility of a supply for stock water would also be considered.

Heads Surgeons

The 1937 president of the American College of Surgeons will be Dr. Frederic Besley (above) of Waukegan, Ill., Northwestern University professor. He was chosen to preside over the next meeting of the medical men at the convention a few days ago in Philadelphia.

BENNETT SPEAKS AT ADELAIDE

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Adelaide, South Australia, Oct. 29.—Hope that trade between Canada and Australia would be developed to the greatest extent possible was voiced yesterday by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Canadian Conservative leader. He was speaking in response to a toast at a Commonwealth Club luncheon.

Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. W. D. Euler, was scheduled to visit Australia shortly. Mr. Bennett continued, and he should be approached by interested Australian business leaders.

Speaking as a private individual, Mr. Bennett said that to the extent Canada was unable to supply her own requirements she offered Australia a market equal to any in the world. He emphasized the quality of goods should be unquestioned.

New Party Leader In Saskatchewan

Regina, Oct. 29. — Saskatchewan Conservatives yesterday named J. G. Diefenbaker, K.C., forty-year-old Prince Albert barrister their provincial party leader. He succeeds Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, former Premier, whose resignation was received by the convention yesterday.

MAYOR IS ABSENT

Haileybury, Ont., Oct. 29 (Canadian Press).—O. J. Thorpe is a resident of Beamsville on the Niagara Peninsula, but he is still mayor of this northern Ontario town. Chief magistrate here for three years, he will continue in office until the end of the year. He moved to Beamsville recently.

Will Rule On Contempt Charge

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 29. — Mr. Justice Robertson in the B.C. Supreme Court yesterday reserved decision whether he should commit Leslie Gilmore, A. W. McLean and A. B. Peterson, members of the British Columbia coast vegetable marketing board, and S. J. Creech and Harry Patterson, board officers, for trial on contempt charges.

Application for the commital was made by Lowe Chung and Low Yee, vegetable exporters.

FOUR YOUTHS ARE HELD FOR TRIAL

Canadian Press

New Westminster, Oct. 29.—Police yesterday evening arrested four juveniles and charged them with robbery with violence a half hour after Mrs. U. Imai reported she had been held up in her Sapperton grocery store and knocked unconscious by one of four youths.

The Japanese woman told police four youths entered the store, one armed with a gun and another holding a club. When she protested their order to open the cash register, she said the one with the club struck her and knocked her unconscious.

When she revived she found $5 had been taken from the till.

Central Bank Change Is Urged

Neepawa, Man., Oct. 29.—Complete ownership of the Bank of Canada by the Dominion Government and steps to offset drought ravages in the west were urged in resolutions adopted yesterday by the United Farmers of Manitoba in convention here.

Extension of electric power lines into rural areas, and in particular to farm homes, was urged in another resolution. It was suggested the work might be undertaken as part of the programme to end unemployment.

Old London Times Shown in Toronto

Canadian Press

Toronto, Oct. 29.—A yellowed copy of The London Times of 1815, carrying—on page four—the story of the smashing victory of the Duke of Wellington, shown at the Advertisers' and Sales Club Exhibition here, is drawing more chuckles and attention than ultra-modern displays featuring photographs of nudes.

The story of the Iron Duke's historical victory reads in part: "A long and sanguinary conflict, terminated in complete overthrow of the enemy's army, with the loss of one hundred and fifty pieces of cannon and two eagles."

ALBERTA UNEMPLOYMENT

Calgary, Oct. 29 (Canadian Press).—For the week ended October 24, the number of unemployed men and women in Alberta totaled 11,306, a new record, the Alberta government employment service reported yesterday. It was an increase of 32 per cent as compared with the same week a year ago. Calgary had a total of 5,054 registered unemployed last week; Edmonton 4,462 and Lethbridge 465.

BUSTER KEATON IN ALIMONY TROUBLE

Associated Press

New York, Oct. 29.—Buster Keaton, motion picture comic, pleaded in State Supreme Court yesterday he was now a "poor man," and said he was being "persecuted" over alimony arrears.

He filed a motion to vacate a warrant of attachment for $4,500 filed by his divorced wife, Natalie Talmadge Keaton, formerly prominent in the movies.

Mrs. Keaton based her warrant on a divorce decree she said required Keaton to pay her $300 a month for the support of their two sons, Robert, twelve, and Joseph, fourteen.

In his motion, Keaton said that when they were divorced in 1923 he gave his wife 90 per cent of their property and that subsequent losses had made him a poor man, dependent on his salary, while she is a wealthy woman.

VANCOUVER BABY INJURED BY TRAIN

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct 29.—Found lying unconscious on the tracks by his father after having been caught under the wheels of a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train at a crossing in the east end of the city yesterday evening, two-and-one-half-year-old Cecil Gould was taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

His left foot was crushed, necessitating amputation of the toes, his right foot was badly mangled and he was suffering from shock.

The father, P. T. Gould, rushed from his nearby residence on hearing the screams of his five-year-old son Lawrence when the accident occurred. Two had been playing on the tracks.

THE CONSTITUENTS OF THE PROvincial ridings of Omineca and Burrard will not have to complain of verbosity on the part of their representatives in the Legislature as they moved and seconded respectively the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne yesterday afternoon. The member for the vast northern constituency, Mr. Matthew M. Connelly, and Mr. John H. Forester, who shares the double seat of Burrard with Mrs. Paul Smith, were commendably brief and displayed to their fellow legislators a grasp of public questions which marks them both down as valuable additions to the Assembly.

One of the traditions of Liberalism, of course, is an antipathy to any regimentation of thought. The true Liberal—and this is not meant in the narrow political sense—is one who regards it his solemn duty to speak his mind, no matter whether his observations may please or offend his party friends. The two speeches yesterday revealed a healthy outlook toward the affairs of the province. Mr. Connelly brought with him to the House a message from the wide-open spaces, while Mr. Forester spoke for a very important metropolitan community. Sitting on the right of Mr. Speaker are those who may not see eye to eye with either of them with regard to some of the matters with which they dealt. This is no detriment to good government—government such as that which the Pattullo administration has given to British Columbia in the last three years. It is in order to congratulate the new members for Omineca and Burrard on their maiden speeches.

In the Way

KING LEOPOLD'S RECENT PROClamation that Belgium has definitely made up her mind to remain neutral when European dissension arises reminds us once more of the desperate plight of people who have to live in the middle of a great highway for armies. It takes us back to the dark days of the summer of 1914.

The people of Belgium might be the greatest pacifists, the most pronounced lovers of peace, in all the world; nevertheless they are compelled to live under the constant shadow of war. For their little country lies between two great nations which have a tradition of mutual enmity dating back for many generations, and the handiest way for these two nations to get at each other is to cross the Flanders plain.

Belgium is one of those supremely unfortunate countries which may, at any minute, be forced into a war with which they had nothing whatever to do. In the late spring of 1914 the people of Belgium should have been as well able to look forward to continued peace as any people on earth. They had no territorial designs, no plans for expansion at someone else's expense; they did not own anything in particular that anyone else wanted. They were on good terms with everyone and they would have been glad to stay that way.

All this, as we all remember, did them no good. They simply stood in the way of the juggernaut, and the war was unloaded on their doorstep. The world's armies needed room to fight and the rich Belgian fields were the handiest place. What has happened now is just another valiant attempt on the part of the Belgians to keep that sort of thing from occurring again. How far it may succeed is an open question.

The thing the Belgians dread most—war, with all that it means in the way of suffering and pain and loss, hangs over their heads, put there by forces which, as individual citizens, they are almost powerless to change. It may come and it may not come—from day to day they cannot tell—but there is very little they can do to prevent it, for they live on a continent in which an infinitely tangled web of rivalries, hatreds, fears, wrongs, and suspicions certainly must produce war sooner or later.

Can any Canadian look at their plight without breathing a devout prayer of thanksgiving for the supreme good fortune which puts him in a land able to decide for itself whether it is to have continued peace?

The Two Nuffields

GREAT BRITAIN'S AIR MINISTRY has issued a "White Paper" in reply to recent disclosures which showed that Baron Nuffield, brilliant engineer and described as the "Henry Ford of England" by a widely-read United States weekly, did not agree with certain officials of the department in the matter of the manufacture of airplane engines. The Ministry still thinks that the former William Richard Morris, now His Lordship, was wrong when he advocated the manufacture of this equipment in whole instead of in parts by various concerns and then assembled afterward. As far as it is possible to judge, although Baron Nuffield appears to be more or less mollified, it is a case of "a man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still."

That is the case of Baron Nuffield the great industrialist. Let us take into consideration the case of Baron Nuffield the philanthropist. Before quoting from a recent editorial in The Manchester Guardian, the fact should be set down that forty years ago this same Morris, now Nuffield, started in business for himself with the colossal capital of twenty-five dollars, all spent on fitting up a little bicycle shop in Worcester, England, with a youngster as a helper. This is what The Guardian has to say about his recent benefaction:

Lord Nuffield's gifts to medicine may be better known in Oxford than in the rest of England, but the scale on which they are made will always attract general attention. His latest and most generous gift, which is announced today, is of one and a quarter million pounds to provide a post-graduate medical school in Oxford, which is to contain departments of medicine, surgery, obstetrics and gynaecology, and anaesthetics, each under the supervision of a university professor. The object of the school will be to enable students to get, in Lord Nuffield's own words, "post-graduate training in methods of investigation, to keep in close touch with developments in the sciences ancillary to medicine, and to preserve their energies, unhampered by the cares of private practice and routine teaching." It is obviously suitable that a school with such an object should be placed in a university town, and it should do much towards removing the idea that still persists that English universities are not so well equipped in other than the humane sciences as are some of their foreign counterparts. Scientific research is always handicapped by its inevitable costliness, and those who wish to assist medicine in this country naturally tend to give their money to the many existing hospitals which have an urgent need of funds to keep them going. The benefits from research are slower and less evident to the public, but Lord Nuffield is in the happy position of knowing that he has already contributed as generously as anyone to our hospitals, and that the greatest benefit he can now confer on them, and on Englishmen in general, is to make further research possible.

The news story relating this latest gift of Baron Nuffield reads in part as follows: "The offer coincides with the preparation of an appeal for £250,000 to endow the future maintenance of the Bodleian Library and £250,000 for new laboratories for physics and geology and for other developments. . . . Lord Nuffield, who thus makes the largest gift ever made by one man in this country (leaving out of account the Rockefeller Foundation and Carnegie benefactions), had already given over £1,000,000 to hospital and other causes. His fortune is estimated at over £20,000,000; forty years ago he started in business with a capital of £5."

The cynic may say that a man of Baron Nuffield's wealth ought to give a lot of it away. He is doing it; but the outstanding factor of Nuffield's giving is obviously a recognition of the fact that while he built the foundation of his fortune by the "sweat of his brow" he has recognized in magnificent manner what he considers to be his duty to his fellow men.

The Change of Heart

RT. HON. R. B. BENNETT, PRIME Minister of Canada from 1930 until the fall of last year, is telling the people of Australia, which Dominion he is now visiting, that he recognizes the necessity of greater trade between the various members of the Britannic Commonwealth.

No matter what one may think of the fiscal policies pursued by Mr. Bennett when in office, all will say that he is on the right track when he argues in favor of more inter-empire trade, and particularly more trade between Canada and the southern Dominions.

And it is good to note this change of heart in Mr. Bennett's economic philosophy. Perhaps some little bird whispered in his ear when he got in touch with Australian exporters that it was he, himself, as Prime Minister of Canada, who put the "crimp" in Antipodean trade as far as this country was concerned.

It may not be out of place to suggest that Mr. Bennett, by this time, would like to forget all about "down under" butter.

Notes

History doubtless will describe conflicts of this era as some kind of colored shirts against clean shirts.

Ordinary folk fared well in the old days. If they could not afford cooks and maids, they raised their own.

Imagination often ruins. If one can lick the world in one's day dreams, there is no incentive to lick it any other way.

By pressing a certain nerve, you can make a frog kick madly. In humans you get that effect by pressing the pocketbook nerve.

A Court of Wisdom, which would interpret universal truth for mankind in its turbulent hour, was one of the proposals made at the recent conference of world scholars at Harvard. The time has come, the scholars said, for the learned of the world to pool their knowledge and preserve the eternal verities. The New Yorker would like to see such a court established, but is familiar enough with the temper of mankind not to place too much confidence in it. The world already has access to the collected wisdom of its seers, but prefers to live by its inherited folly. And what can we do about that?

A radio network orchestra leader has appealed to other baton-wielders not to play martial music, as a means of staving off another great war. The musician believes that war-like strains arouse civilized man's worst instincts and stir peace-loving citizens to frenzy. There is probably something in what he says. Many who enlisted in the World War, or contributed patriotic services, may have been under the influence of patriotic strains heard everywhere in those days. Banning martial music during troublous times, therefore, might aid the cause of pacifism. But if the man's plea means devitalizing the music of peace-time parades, he will probably meet a storm of objections. For one of the main reasons we all love a parade is its pulse-stirring music.

MY UNLUCKY DAY

DISASTERS never come singly, they say, and I am inclined to believe they come in threes, judging by my experience the other day. The first was not a disaster, only an annoyance, but may have been a warning that the stars in their courses were not fighting for me. An horoscopist whom I consulted recently warned me that my affairs would prosper at one time, while at another I might expect unpleasantness, or grief. The day I mention must have been one of the latter.

BUYING A STAMP

I WAS NEAR the Post Office, I would dash in, buy a stamp, post my letter, and be on my way. Three people were at the wicket, and I fell into line. The man being served was deliberate and slow in checking his money and a long list of purchases, so I strolled off to speak to an acquaintance, and as I passed the slits where you mail letters, I noticed a Chinaman peering through the one marked "United Kingdom and Foreign," conversing with somebody inside. When I returned to the wicket, there was a queue of two boys, a flapper improving (?) her face, a soldier, my Chinaman, a red-bearded man, a fat woman, two tourists, and a widow behind whom I took my place. Anxious as I was to get away, it would have looked silly to step out of the queue, and ask a passing stranger if he could oblige me with a stamp. So I hung on. The tourists discussed the amusing regulation that American stamps would not carry letters to the United States, my Chinaman bought a "Tlee sen stam," and the fat woman was persuaded she would have to go elsewhere for her postal note. Finally, only the widow was ahead of me, and I learned she had been a widow for five years, when she volunteered that information to the official while purchasing a one-cent stamp. She took off one glove, and dived into an old green handbag, remarking, "I think I have a cent here." After rummaging about, she laid down a coin which turned out to be an English ha'penny. "Dear me," she exclaimed, "isn't that stupid, but I'm sure I have a cent," and removing her other glove, she put on her spectacles and hunted once more in the recesses of her bag. "There," she said at length, triumphantly, "I knew I had a cent somewhere." There was then the business of sticking on the stamp before getting instructions where to post her letter, and when she had departed, I got my long-delayed stamp.

THE EARLY BIRD

LATER IN THE DAY I visited my stockbroker. I have made—and lost—speculating in penny stocks, buying at cents, hoping to sell at dollars. "Hope springs eternal." I had bought shares at twenty cents in the Early Bird Mine, and mysterious rumors had it that Early Bird was going to be a prize fowl, so the shares rose to over thirty cents. I had been on a holiday, and heard nothing about the vein that was unexpectedly discovered, nor of Early Bird's consequent flight to over a dollar. Alas, I learned that the vein had bled to death, and Early Bird had fluttered down to about seven cents. A nasty knock, as maddening as having the ticket number next to a big winner in the Irish Derby Sweep.

CORNS

THE MOST painful incident occurred that night when I took Henrietta to the pictures. I think she and I are engaged, more or less definitely, but I am now anxious about what Henrietta thinks. The picture had her style of hero, who may be lost in the boiling rapids, but reappears on the shore, alive, with dry clothes and a marcel wave. We had seats the proper distance from the screen for her eyes, but her feet seemed to bother her. The picture was better than expected, so I didn't think of Henrietta's feet till the end of the show, when she began feeling about under the seat, and whispered in a startled voice that she couldn't find one of her shoes. "But what's happened, how did you lose it?" I asked. "I took it off," she said. "Took it off, why?" I asked again, as we bumped heads hunting for the thing. "Corns, stupid! Corns—new shoes too tight—I had to take it off." The audience gradually faded away, and Henrietta stood anxiously in the aisle while I hunted the rows back and front of where we had been sitting. An usher remarked that there was a shoe in the office, so Henrietta limped up the aisle in high hopes, but the shoe was not hers. She was almost in tears, and I was about to get a taxi, when the usher rushed up with the missing shoe, which she fell upon with thankful cries.

We went to that new swanky place, the Purple Cow, for a "Dutch" snack, each to pay our own share, and of course discussed the shoe which was lost and was found. I pointed out, quite reasonably, I think, that she shouldn't have taken off her shoe, or if she did, should have looked after it properly. Also, it was stupid to buy shoes too small, as they were certain to raise corns. Further, the heels, which were too high, made the corns worse. Henrietta didn't seem to appreciate my interest in her feet. She said nothing, but gave me a nasty look, and as I enlarged upon the matter of tight shoes, she picked up her bag and gave me an even nastier look. "Oh, shut up," she suddenly burst out, "you make me tired," and stumped off as if she didn't know what a corn was. She didn't come back, and I had to pay the whole bill, nor have I seen her since. Yes, I think these things come in threes.

NATURE ON THE LOOSE
From The Goderich Star

THE ONTARIO GASOLINE TAX
From The Hanover Post

Some people make the error of referring to "the 6 per cent tax on gasoline." Actually it is a 30 per cent tax, as it is six cents on the original cost of 18 or 19 cents, making it one of the heaviest of all taxes.

Letters to The Editor

CREDIT WHERE DUE

To the Editor:—The decision of the acting mayor and council of Victoria to provide an outlet for the exuberance of spirit displayed by the young folks on Hallowe'en is one that will commend itself to citizens generally. Whether we like it or not, the celebration of Hallowe'en with its accompanying frolics is an established institution, and it is generally agreed that the mischievous pranks associated with the occasion will be far less common with the provision of some sort of counter attraction. The old-fashioned bonfires have lost none of their lure, and it is safe to predict that the sites on which the council proposed to erect them in Victoria on Hallowe'en will be crowded to capacity with youngsters eager to see the torch applied and to participate in the carnival of fireworks and sweets.

Incidentally, it has occurred to the writer in this connection that we as a community might on occasion be a little more generous in the matter of according credit to our public men in cases where they are obviously deserving of it. The Hallowe'en plan above referred to, although in the eyes of some perhaps a relatively small matter, is a case in point. It is to be regretted that some have seen in it cause for sarcastic comment rather than commendation. Our mayor and council work hard and uncomplainingly, in the face of sharp and sometimes acrid criticism. It is only fair that we should at least be as lavish in our praise as we are in our castigation. Continued caviling has a demoralizing effect and is subversive of that confidence we all ought to possess with regard to our city.

HAROLD M. DIGGON.

CRITICISM OR COMMENDATION

To the Editor:—As Wayfarer's criticism of "Timely Topics" seems so unfair, I feel the great majority of radio listeners strongly resent the evident spitefulness with which his letters are written.

"Timely Topics" has consistently and at all times stated definitely that Fascism or Communism would, and could, end only in chaos, which would force the world to accept more Christian principles.

My defence of "Timely Topics" is not necessary, as I think the radio listeners will agree, after looking Wayfarer's letter, "Liberty or Oppression," over, that it was evidently so far from the truth he should have signed himself Ananias.

WILL W. PLAYFAIR.

WHICH ENEMY?

To the Editor:—I should like to know against what potential enemy Canada is arming.

Some people say it is against Japan, in which case we would be lined up with Soviet Russia. This doesn't make sense, for when I look at the defence advocates I find they are nearly all prosperous middle-class gentemen who hate Soviet Russia.

No; Japan is not the enemy; safe, sane, conservative Japan they admire. Then against whom are we arming? You have only to ask yourself "What countries—there are two of them—do he prosperous middle-class imperialists hate the most?" And there you have the answer.

A FUTURE VICTIM.

FASCIST FACTS

To the Editor:—In reference to the letter appearing in The Times of October 27, signed by E. K. M., headed "Communism and Fascism," I would like to point out that in paragraph one it is stated that Fascism had its inception in Italy in 1919. I wish to correct this statement, adding that it was Mussolini who in March, 1919, in the city of Milan, founded the Fascism.

In paragraph two it is stated that in 1920 the factories were occupied by the Italian workers, an action approved and supported by Mussolini, who at that time called himself a Socialist. This statement had no foundation whatsoever, as Fascism was always contrary to the occupation of the factories by the workers, and helped the government to re-establish order and return the factories to the owners. Mussolini at that time was the head of Fascism and no longer a Socialist.

As the above facts on which the conclusion of the letter is based on are without foundation and contrary to the truth, so the conclusion of the letter signed E. K. M. is imaginary and against the truth. "PI. CO."

LOOKING TOWARD 1938

To the Editor:—This year's municipal election is of greater importance than any election for some years, for the reason the aldermen to be elected will be on the council when the B.C. Electric franchise comes up for renewal in 1938.

This will be of much concern to the people generally. Busses seem to be the coming thing for several reasons—where the city has grown away from the tram lines, the busses can go, and follow the people as the city grows; they can navigate through the traffic and draw into the sides of the streets, and above all else, are silent, compared to the rattle and grinding noise of street cars. There is a big campaign on now in English cities to get rid of noises. Some cities have done away with street cars altogether, and others to a great extent.

However, it is well we should think of this. It is as great, if not greater importance to women and their children, to avoid walking great distances to the trams. These distances in another few years will be greater in some instances.

Women, I understand now, that are not property owners can register to vote by paying $2, which they may eventually save in fares and better accommodation if they make use of their vote.

Those seeking election should be asked to state their opinion on the B.C. Electric charter revision.

J. MULLARD.

WANTS TO HEAR OF GHOST EXPERIENCES

To the Editor:—A few years ago The Daily News of London, England, asked its readers to write to that paper and tell of authentic experiences of theirs, or of immediate relatives or friends and for which they could vouch—that is to say, accounts of strange warnings or ghostly appearances.

The News felt that it was a subject that secretly or openly was of great interest to almost everybody.

Needless to say, they were swamped with letters, receiving over 3,000 altogether, from all parts of England and overseas.

So popular, indeed, was the idea, that many of the letters were eventually compiled in a book by The News and sold for 2s 6d.

I came across a copy of that book the other day and wondered if, perhaps, the idea would not be also popular here. At least, it would be a welcome relief from the political and religious themes of the letters which have been so much to the fore lately.

Somehow, this season of the year, when the fireside of an evening seems so attractive, kind of lends itself to stories of the occult.

Though I, personally, do not believe that the spirit returns to earth once we have "shuffled off this mortal coil," still, I feel that there is some part of our being that knows more than the objective mind is cognizant of, and can, at times, warn us of dangers to be avoided.

What do you, Mr. Editor, and your many readers, think of the idea?

"WAYFARER."

Peyote Cult

STRANGEST of all Indian religions—the peyote cult—is again a centre of heated controversy.

This time Indians themselves are charged with religious intolerance in objecting to the Native American Church, as the cult is called, in their midst.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes has spoken sharply to the Indian Governor of Taos Pueblo in New Mexico. Tribal officers of Taos, he declares, have inflicted extreme, even cruel punishments on members of this minor religious group.

It is intolerable, he told the Indian governor, that Indians should be confined by fellow-Indians "in an insanitary and practically an airless and lightless dungeon for long periods," under "a charge of witchcraft supported by no evidence or witnesses." And it is intolerable, he further declared, that for such alleged offences Indians should deprive other Indians of their land, and that "officials of a tribe should personally appropriate this confiscated land for their own enrichment."

Sternly warning the officials that this line of conduct is "injuring the good name and jeopardizing the hard-won self-rule of all the Pueblos," Secretary Ickes has ordered that lands be returned to their owners, and that religious persecution cease.

Thus the peyote cult experiences a new and tumultuous chapter in its always controversial history.

A curious blend of paganism and Christianity, this Indian church centres its rites around the peyote cactus, which is eaten as a sacrament. Whether the dried flower tops of the peyote serve as the good teacher, that its Indian disciples claim, or whether it is an evil intoxicant with bad effects on Indian character, is something neither white man nor Indian has ever proved. Uplifting visions of brotherhood are claimed as one effect of the drug by those who experience the ecstasy it inspires.

Unique among Indian religions, the peyote church has crashed tribal barriers, gaining converts among tribe after tribe. No less than forty tribes today have members in this cult. They range from Cheyennes in Montana, Winnebagos in the Great Lakes region, down to the southwest, and to various tribes in Mexico, where the cult was first found by Spanish conquerors among the Aztecs.

Over twelve years ago, the Office of Indian Affairs at Washington gathered opinions from doctors and superintendents at Indian reservations as to whether they considered peyote harmful or not. The verdict leaned heavily toward the idea that "peyote has the same effect as liquor on morals." Yet some officials disagreed, as people always have on peyote.

Several years ago, an effort to gain facts on the cult and its results was made by Dr. Vincent Petrullo, of the University Museum, University of Pennsylvania. His conclusion was that the harmful effects of peyote have been stressed without real proof of the plant's harm. And so the battle goes on.

EMPERORS
From The Christian Science Monitor

One evening Napoleon III was attending a performance of "The Barber of Seville," when across the theatre he espied the stout genial figure of its composer, Rossini. He directed that Rossini be summoned to his box.

When the composer appeared he entered the box with some hesitation, and apologized profusely for not being in evening dress.

Five Generations

Is Married At First Church

Miss E. I. Dinsdale Bride Today Of Richard H. Spilsbury

At high noon today at the First United Church, a wedding was quietly solemnized when Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson united in marriage Eleanore Isabel, younger daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chapman Dinsdale of Victoria, and Mr. Richard Hugh Spilsbury, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ward Spilsbury of North Vancouver.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. Allan Fraser and wore a smart French model of May-wine wool, with which she wore a Jean Patou velour turban trimmed with a chic bow and other accessories in the same shade. Her corsage bouquet was of gardenias and bouvardia. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Rupert Spilsbury of North Vancouver.

Following the marriage service a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. Allan Fraser, Quadra Street, where only relatives and immediate friends of the bride and bridegroom were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Spilsbury left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver en route for a motor trip to California, and will later make their home in Kelowna, where the bridegroom, who is a graduate in agriculture from the University of British Columbia, is connected with the Dominion Government Soil Survey project at Kelowna.

There is apparently a great deal of hush-hush about the forthcoming Hallowe'en cabaret at the Empress Hotel Saturday night. The whole thing is being kept as secret as a witch's ride to the moon and twice as mysterious. The management has, however, admitted there are to be two floor numbers, gorgeous costumes and fourteen dancers. In fact with special music by Mr. Billy Tickle and his orchestra, the evening promises to be outstanding. Many parties have already booked for the event, both host and no-host.

The Misses Mabel Johnson and Edith Ross were joint hostesses at a double shower held at the former's home, 853 Princess Avenue, on Monday evening. Sharing the role of guest of honor was Miss Dorothy Houghton, who is leaving shortly for England to be married, and for whom gifts of a personal nature were given, and Miss Dorothy Palmer, a November bride-elect, who was presented with a kitchen shower. The gifts were presented in large pumpkins, and Hallowe'en colors were used throughout the rooms. The guests included the Misses Dorothy Houghton and Dorothy Palmer, Mrs. D. Crawford, and the Misses Edith Ross, Florence Ellis, Ivy Bradley, Ann Newman, Winnie Brinkman, Lillian Benson, Marian Mitchell, Isabel Crawford, Christine Crooks, Josephine Duncan, Jessie Bunn, Daisy Grossmith, Doris Welsh, Dorothy Custance and Mary Lloyd.

Mrs. James Florence and her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Holman, entertained on Sunday afternoon at the home of the former, 2415 Quadra Street, at a tea in honor of Miss Peggy Macdonald, a November bride-elect. During the afternoon little Miss Beverley Mae Barnes presented the guest of honor with a corsage of roses and bouvardia and a beautiful cutwork cloth from the guests present. The tea table, in a color scheme of pink and green with kewpie dolls with parasols and pink candles in silver holders, was presided over by Mrs. A. Macdonald. The invited guests were: Mesdames A. Macdonald, H. V. Lane, T. F. Huzzey, A. E. Rippingale, A. R. Barnes, R. E. Benwell, W. J. Florence, H. Bradshaw, A. Waterworth, N. L. Mrs. K. T. Hughes, Richardson Street, was hostess to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the St. Joseph's T.B. pavilion for their membership tea yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Hughes and Miss K. Mackay, president of the auxiliary, welcomed the guests, and Miss Emily O'Brien was convener of the affair. Mrs. William McAllister and Mrs. I. G. Trudel had charge of the membership fees. During the afternoon, Mr. Sidney McAllister delighted the visitors with three baritone solos, the accompaniments being played by Miss Roma Trudel. Tea was served from a table decorated in a Hallowe'en motif, with black privet berries and French marigolds carrying out the Hallowe'en colors, and orange candles in black candlesticks. The tea table was presided over by Mrs. J. H. Moore and Mrs. W. McManus for the first hour and by Mrs. Stuart Kenning and Miss Harriet O'Brien for the remainder of the afternoon. Members of the auxiliary and others assisted in serving.

Beaux-Arts To Meet Tonight

The Beaux-Arts will hold its usual monthly meeting at their clubrooms in the Crystal Gardens at 8 o'clock tonight. Two one-act plays and several musical numbers have been arranged. Miss Harriet Maistram of Seattle will render several solos and Mr. Len Acres has arranged a few piano selections. There will be an important business session, followed by dancing and refreshments.

Twenty-seven Voted On At City Temple Aid's Tea

A number of beautifully-decorated tables were in evidence at the very successful "Decorated Tables" tea held at the City Temple social hall yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. A. Sabiston won first prize with her table, which was centred with a silver flower basket of double nasturtiums, with crystal vases of the flowers at the four corners; Mrs. S. Brown won the second prize with a table daintily arranged with cosmos and yellow marguerites, and Mrs. Maude Hammond's table, with its arrangement of pink cosmos, won the third prize.

The prizes were awarded on popular vote, each guest being given a ballot paper on entering. There were twenty-seven decorated tables in the contest, adding much to the attractive appearance of the hall, which was decorated in Hallowe'en colorings and favors.

Mrs. George Holt, president of the Ladies' Aid, and Mrs. A. E. Humphries welcomed the guests, and Mrs. Grace Deaville was the convener. An attractive programme added much to the pleasure of the guests. Mrs. Vivian McCahill, soprano, and Mr. Frank Partridge, tenor, were heard in several solos, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Deaville. A sketch, "Which Is It," was acted by Mrs. M. Hammond and Mr. A. Swalak.

Mrs. J. Gadsden won the floral basket, the prize in a contest held at the tea.

Child Welfare Tea Success

A generous response to its annual appeal on behalf of needy families in the Peace River District greeted the Gonzales Chapter I.O.D.E. at its child welfare tea held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. C. Nichol, the regent, Rockland Avenue. About forty guests were welcomed by Mrs. Nichol and Mrs. H. J. Davis, convener of child welfare.

Mrs. B. H. T. Drake and Mrs. G. Denbigh had charge of a table of novelties, the sale of which realized the sum of $25. One hundred and fifteen articles of children's clothing were received and these, together with the chapter's supply of garments, will be used for distribution among the needy families in the city and the Peace River district.

During the afternoon a delightful musical programme was given, songs being sung by Mrs. Nichol, Mrs. T. A. Rickard and Mrs. Rollo Mainguy, with Mr. Edgar Holloway as an able accompanist.

Tea was served in the dining-room under the direction of Mrs. Davis, who was assisted by Mrs. A. N. Mouat, Mrs. P. F. Curtis, Miss Clearihue and Miss Marian Pitts. The table was decorated with an exquisite arrangement of pink roses and spirea. In the reception hall and drawing-room were masses of beautiful chrysanthemums.

World Peace Is Hindered

"World Peace and the Empire" was the theme of the thoughtful address given by Mr. H. G. Wyatt before the Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E. at its empire study meeting on Tuesday evening. He summarized the peculiar characteristics of the present international situation which have set in motion a deadly spirit of mutual intimidation and successively accumulating arguments, with reactions in the individual of fear, anxiety, foreboding and perplexity.

After touching upon the reactions of the various nations to the problem, the speaker noted that the path to international peace and empire security was plain enough, this being the substitution for trial by battle of some universal institution of justice. The League of Nations had been a brave step in this direction, its failures being attributable to the tendency on the part of various nations to place national sovereignty above international co-operation.

Mrs. William Ellis, Municipal regent, read extracts from Sir Robert Falconer's address to the League of Nations. Mrs. Allan Campbell gave a brief review of activities of the League during the past sixteen years.

Mrs. F. P. Beckett moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Wyatt for his helpful and instructive address, the motion being seconded by Mrs. G. P. Clarke.

Mentor Dies

Floral Tea at Memorial Hall

Cathedral A.Y.P.A. Party Was Colorful Success

Nearly 150 guests attended the enjoyable "Chrysanthemum Tea" held in the Memoral Hall yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the cathedral A.Y.P.A. Miss Reta Milligan, general convener of the affair, and Mrs. C. S. Quainton received the guests.

The decorations were striking. The A.Y.P.A. Shield, surrounded with palms and flowers, held the place of honor on the balcony above the head table.

On the head table was a lovely floral centrepiece of rose chrysanthemums and maidenhair fern, in which had been set matching candles, and each guest's place was marked with a charming little chrysanthemum boutonniere. The tea tables were gay with bronze, pink and yellow chrysanthemums, while in the centre of the room was an attractive grouping of palms and ferns, together with tall baskets of chrysanthemums and dahlias, while blue and gold candlesticks made a striking note of brilliance and color.

Dean Quainton acted as chairman, announcing the items in the musical programme which included piano solos by Ursula Hills, and by Miss Gwen Hichens-Smith, whose numbers included Grainger's "Irish Tune from County Derry" and "On Den Fruhling" (Grieg); vocal solos by Miss Elinor M. Swain, who sang "Still Wie die Nacht" (Bohm), "To the Sun" (Curran), "The Hills of Home" (Fox) and "Carmena" (Lane Wilson). Mrs. Paul Green was her accompanist. Miss Elvnth Anderson played two violin solos, the second being repeated in response to demands for an encore.

Those pouring tea were Miss Kathleen Agnew and Miss Gertrude Snider, at the guest table. Miss Rita Milligan, general convener, was assisted by Misses Margaret and Vera Cookson, Leslie Jephson, Gwen Hichens-Smith and Doreen Maynard. Others assisting at the tea tables were Misses Julia Jones, Mae Phillips, Peggy Mulliner and Doreen Maynard.

The proceeds of the party were in aid of A.Y.P.A. funds and the Columbia Coast Mission.

Girl Students Tea Hostesses

Students of the economics class of the Victoria High School entertained their mothers and friends at a tea in the school cafeteria yesterday afternoon to demonstrate this year's special project.

Elsie George, one of the students, explained the project which is aimed at health and nutrition, with extra food being distributed to undernourished children in the Boys' Central School. Miss O'Kieffe of the Boys' Central, spoke of the value of the food to the children. Mrs. D. L. McLaurin, school trustee, also spoke in praise of the project.

Hallowe'en colors and autumn flowers were used in decoration of the room and tea-tables, and the girls had made all the delicious sandwiches and cakes. The party was held under the direction of Miss Peto, and pouring tea were Connie Sullivan Norma Lovick, Iris Dickson and Edna Wong.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KAY DUNN, pretty young nurse, is hired as a stewardess on Overland Airways and, the same day, meets TED GRAHAM, veteran pilot who flies the trans-Pacific route.

Kay is assigned to the western division of the service. MONTE BLAINE, an apprentice pilot, pays her marked attentions. Monte is daring, romantic, but Kay is more interested in Ted. She and Dickie, Ted's adopted seven-year-old son, become close friends.

Ted returns from a trip to the Orient and takes Kay to dinner. Later they have a long talk in which he explains his views on marriage. To be successful he says, a marriage must be planned scientifically, just as a plane flight. Kay does not agree to all this, but when he asks her to marry him, she says "yes."

The marriage takes place and the honeymoon, a trip to the Orient by plane, is a glamorous adventure. Afterward, with Ted away from home for weeks at a time, Kay is lonely. She tries to keep busy, caring for her home and for Dickie. Ted is working on an invention and spends less and less time at home.

At a club meeting Kay meets MRS. WATTS, expert on child psychology, who warns her that Dickie is a problem child.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI

Kay set to work with a will over her lessons on child training. Dickie's welfare was in her mind before all else. Twice a week she attended the lecture course, and Mrs. Watts was a frequent visitor at the little house on the sands.

After his initial embrace he asked, "Where is Dickie?"

Kay shook her head. "According to the book he is too excitable and I thought he'd better stay at home."

"The book?" Ted eyed her askance. "What on earth are you talking about?"

"Oh!" she said, "the book I'm studying on child training."

Ted laughed. "What does the book know about Dickie?"

"Everything! Ted, I'm worried about him. Yesterday, after all my training the past few weeks, he came running home and said, 'I just met my brother at the airport. He wants me to go hunt tigers with him.'"

Ted laughed. "Did you let him go."

"No. He said he'd rather stay home with me."

"I suspect," Ted told her, "that your friend, Mrs. Watts, has been giving you ideas. Her five children—"

Ted snorted. "Everybody in the airport colony knows these children are little terrors! We've had to chase the boys away from the airport a dozen times and the truant officers picked them up in Oakland once."

"Ted—really?"

He only laughed. "You go to see Mrs. Watts some time when they're all at home," he advised. "Go just once!"

Kay was thoughtful on the way back to the house. Suddenly, as she saw Dickie running to greet them, she turned and said, "I believe Dickie is perfectly normal!"

"Perhaps," Ted suggested, "he only needs a little of the discipline we require of our crews on the trans-Pacific flight. I'll give him a lecture and if that doesn't work I'll have to punish him—"

* * *

But Ted did give Dickie a stern lecture. After dinner he went to the airport to work on the gyropilot. Kay knew he wouldn't be home until late, and she tried to settle down to read. After half an hour, however, she threw down the book in disgust.

Dickie looked up from the model airplane he had been playing with. "I don't like books either," he announced. "Come on, let's play."

Kay drew him to his feet. "I'll tell you what," she said. "Let's slip off and see a movie."

He frowned. "No," he said, "let's see an air picture."

Ted came home early and found the house deserted. Since he was tired, he went to bed at once. When Kay and Dickie arrived he was sound asleep.

In the morning he confided something to Kay that banished all thought of her own trials. Ted had come home from his flight over the Pacific to find that his private office had been ransacked. Papers had been tossed about and several were missing. Someone evidently was trying to learn the secret of the gyropilot.

Luckily, he had taken the machine on the trip with him, and the papers which the intruders had taken would shed no light on the design.

Kay asked, "But, Ted, who could want the secrets?"

"A patent thief, perhaps. A rival plane designer—possibly an agent for some foreign power—"

"Then you may be in danger! They might—"

He silenced her fears. "The secrets are in my head," he told her. "They wouldn't try to do anything to me. I'll just have to be more careful from now on. I've taken no one into my confidence but you — and Monte Blaine."

"You can count on Monte," Kay said. "He may be reckless, but I'm sure he's honest and a true friend."

* * *

She was still disturbed, but, with Ted insisting her worries were groundless, she managed to put them in the back of her mind. And, as the days passed, she felt more at ease about Dickie. When she learned that Mrs. Watts's children were really as badly behaved as Ted had said, she threw the child psychology books into discard.

She and Dickie became real pals again. They began to "slip off" together when Ted was too busy to go with them.

There were times when the old fears arose in Kay's mind, once more, when she wondered if Ted had married her merely to give Dickie a home. Because she was alone so much these thoughts magnified themselves.

Doris's amusing comments had helped her over many a small crisis in the past. Many of Doris's ideas seemed iconoclastic, but everyone knew that, at heart, the girl was a sentimentalist. She had learned to take things as they came, fending for herself.

But the real blow for Kay came when she learned Ted was to be away from home on Christmas. He sent a radiogram from Manila, but she had looked forward so long to this first Christmas with him and Dickie that she was keenly disappointed.

She gave a Christmas dinner for some of their friends. Doris came with Ralph Bangs and they had a quarrel even before the turkey appeared. Monte Blain was there and sat in Ted's place at the table. Dickie and Jerry Searles completed the party.

Dickie ate so much that soon his eyes refused to stay open and he was carried off to bed. Throughout the evening guests continued to drop in. It was a custom in the aviation colony to call on one's friends on Christmas Day. As everybody knew everybody else, there was a constant stream of arrivals and the gaiety continued late.

"Poor old Ted!" Jerry Searles lamented. "This is the first Christmas I've spent without him in years! Christmas Day in '17 we bombed an ammunition train. We were flying at 3,000 feet, and all at once he said, 'Let's shoot some firecrackers, Jerry! I haven't done it since I was a kid.' So there was that ammunition dump—"

"I thought it was a train," Doris corrected. "Make your story stick together, Jerry."

"All right." Jerry went on, "It was an ammunition train. It was crawling along, so we dove down and let go with a bomb. Some fireworks, I can tell you! But there's nothing like that for Ted these days. He's changed—he's a chief pilot and he's married!

"Funny thing! I vowed I'd never marry as long as Ted didn't. But he's married now, so I guess it's my turn. I guess I'll have to start looking for a wife—!"

Doris held a sprig of mistletoe over his head and kissed him and everyone laughed.

"Come on," Jerry said, "let's all go some place and dance! It's going to be my party. Ted's missing all the fun and I want to give a party for his wife!"

* * *

The others looked at Kay. "Sato is here to stay with Dickie," Doris said. "Come on, Kay!"

Kay had forgotten about spending Christmas alone with Dickie. She wanted to go with the others, to have a good time. Monte was at her elbow, his blue eyes shining.

"Let's go," he urged. "This is one night when you owe yourself a good time. Come on, Kay!"

She smiled and fled to her room to put on her white evening dress. She looked out the window over the moonlit bay toward the Pacific. Ted was there somewhere, speeding toward her. Perhaps he was lonely tonight, too.

But the thought did not endure. Kay flung her clothes off and donned the evening gown. She brushed her gleaming hair and touched her face with powder and rouge. Rebellion flared in her heart; tonight she was going to dance!

When she came downstairs again she found Doris waiting with the three men.

"Here's to Kay," Monte cried, salaaming deeply.

They all got into their wraps, engaging in a mild disagreement about where they were to go. Jerry wanted to go to a hotel across the bay where a famous orchestra was playing.

Doris preferred a restaurant in Oakland. "I want to hear Dudley Nix sing," she said. "Don't you remember—he had that band back east when we were at Central airport?"

Monte ignored the others. He said to Kay, in a low voice, "You are too lovely for words tonight. You're the old Kay again—"

"The old days are past!" she told him lightly.

Quadruplets Precious to Mother

Englishwoman Has Refused $50,000 For Baby

London Special Correspondence

The mother of Britain's costliest babies — the £100-a-week St. Neot's quadruplets—has turned down an offer of £10,000.

After paying a small admission charge, to go towards the support of the babies, a grey-haired wealthy but childless woman was shown into the nursery this week.

She watched the babies for some time, then turning to Mrs. Miles, their mother, she said: "I have never seen such beautiful babies. I think Ann (the only girl) is really lovely. In fact, I would give anything to be able to adopt her."

Mrs. Miles laughed. "Heaps of people tell me that," she said.

"Ah, but I really mean it," declared the woman. "I will give you £10,000 if you will sign the necessary adoption papers."

"Ten thousand pounds is a lot of money to me," she said slowly. "It would mean that I could pay off the cost of the nursery and that I could live with my children in comfort for the rest of my life—but," she paused, then added gently, "I wouldn't sell one of my babies for all the money in the world."

"I am a lonely woman," the grey-haired old lady explained to an interviewer afterwards. She refused to give her name but added she had come from Scotland to St. Neots, Huntingdonshire, specially to see the quads. These babies, who were so delicate they cost £100 a week to rear when first born, are now perfectly normal in health. They are, in fact, model babies.

A campaign against the excessive use of lipstick has begun simultaneously in Mayfair and in the church.

Of recent months, some women have been applying lipstick so freely that their lips seemed to stick out from their faces in two crudely-colored red blobs. Such over-indulgence has brought satiety.

Two young duchesses and several well-known young society women are leading a fashion in Mayfair for the abandonment of all make-up that can be detected. Only the most natural-tinted lipstick and rouge is consdered smart.

Meanwhile, Prebendary F. J. Meyrick, vicar of Hove, Sussex, has strongly condemned the use of lipstick by women coming to communion services.

After reminding them that lipstick leaves an ugly red rim on the chalice, he writes in his parish magazine: "For the comfort of the brethren, may I suggest that lipstick should be entirely renounced by people coming to the altar."

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MAKE BOTTLE FEEDING AS COMFORTABLE AS POSSIBLE FOR YOUR BABY

When the baby is forced by the mother's choice, or unalterable circumstances, to receive his nourishment from a bottle, it is no more than fair that we should make this method of feeding as comfortable and pleasant as possible.

The tiny baby is too helpless to be left to wring his neck, endeavoring to procure nourishment from a tipped up bottle, kept in this position by a folded cloth. The bottle should be given by the mother, while the baby lies on her lap in a relaxed and slightly sidewise position. When so held the bottle can be adjusted as need be to accommodate the baby. When the nipple is partially filled with air, the baby swallows this along with his formula and pays for it in hiccoughs and gas pains.

ADULT-SIZED BELCH

Babies may be slow or fast eaters, but either should have rest periods every three or four minutes. Put the bottle aside, lift baby to a sitting position and pat his back gently. He'll accommodate you with a comically, adult-sized belch. Then he'll be ready to go after the bottle again with renewed vigor and appreciation.

He can't do that if he is filled to the throat with the air he has swallowed. No one can keep on swallowing without stopping. Don't expect the baby to do it—even if it does hurry up the feeding ceremony.

ENLARGE NIPPLE OPENINGS

Nipples when purchased, very often have exceedingly tiny holes, or none at all. The baby's efforts to pull milk through these tiny apertures rapidly exhaust him and when his appetite is partially appeased he simply stops trying. Turn the bottle upside down and note whether the milk drops freely. If it takes the baby unusually long to get his meal, the chances are the nipple could be improved by enlarging the openings with a red hot needle.

Tomorrow: Include new foods in baby's diet early.

Lodge Meet—Britannia L.O.B.A. held their regular meeting in the Orange Hall recently, the worthy mistress, Mrs. E. Burke, in the chair, assisted by the worthy deputy, Mrs. M. Patterson. Arrangements were made for a bazaar to be held on December 1, also a rummage sale on Saturday at 587 Johnson Street.

Reappears

A friend stood trial charged with his murder, although Jesse Owen Gifford (above) of South Pittsburgh, Tenn., still was alive. The man was acquitted. The whole true story came out a few days ago when Gifford, now forty-five, revealed his whereabouts through applying for the U.S. soldier's bonus at Susanville, Cal. When Gifford disappeared eight years ago, another body was identified as his and his bonus paid to Mrs. Gifford.

Communism Is Basis of Ruling

New Jersey Woman Wants Court to Restore Her Custody of Two Children

Associated Press

Trenton, N.J., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Mabel Eaton, describing herself as destitute and broken in health, pressed her fight nevertheless today to regain custody of her two children, taken from her by a court decree which branded her "a convert to communism and atheism" and unfit to rear them.

"My babies mean more to me than anything else in the world, and unless I get them back I shall have nothing to live for," she said yesterday in opposing her husband's motion in the court of errors and appeals to dismiss her appeal.

Mrs. Eaton's former husband, Warren, who obtained a divorce as well as custody of the children, Mabel ten and Warren Jr. five, is a salesman.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

The regular meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A. was held last Monday with the president, Alan Paver, in the chair. Report of the Local Council was given by Stan Laver, vice-president.

A telephone auction bridge will be held during the week, November 16 to 21. Reservations can be made by telephoning G 1487, G 7559 or G 6982.

S. C. Hawkins gave a brief talk on "Young People and the Church."

COLWOOD GOLF

Teams headed by the president and captain will meet in the annual match at Colwood on Sunday. Members wishing to play are asked to communicate with the secretary as soon as possible.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1936

Until the evening adverse planetary aspects are strong, according to astrology. It is a day in which surprises and even reverses may be experienced.

Deceit and double-dealing are indicated by the stars which appear to encourage bitter controversies and secret acts of hostility.

There is a portent disturbing to political candidates of every rank. Omens of last-minute devices which will confuse voters are seen by astrologers.

Saturn is read as helpful to labor. Future political power of supreme significance is presaged for organizations of trained men and women.

Royalty will regain power and prestige in more than one quarter. That will be merely the precursor of greater upheavals in government affairs. Dictators will rule as kings and with kings for only a brief time.

The Moon in Taurus today should impart confidence and determination which will help to gain success. It is well to face next month with courage.

Girls should conform to the changing modes which demand natural instead of artificial beauty. Cosmetics should be used sparingly.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of changes that may include long journeys. Some perplexities may be hard to meet, but beneficial in the end.

Children born on this day probably will be determined to the point of obstinacy, but talented in various lines. Subjects of this sign of Scorpio usually reach any goal they desire to attain.

Gertrude Atherton, author, was born on this day, 1857. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Roscoe Conkline, politician, 1829, and John Rogers, artist, 1829.

SEEK PROJECTS FOR JOBLESS

B.C. Relief Administrator Goes to Ottawa on Unemployment Plans

To discuss plans for taking care of single jobless in the province this winter, E. W. Griffith, provincial relief administrator, will leave for Ottawa tonight, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, announced today.

The British Columbia Government has already made proposals to Ottawa to supplement the farm placement scheme initiated by the federal authorities, which is not considered adequate to meet the situation in this province.

Extension of the forestry training and placer-mining camp schemes carried on by the province and other projects of a similar nature have been proposed tentatively to the federal government and Mr. Griffiths will pursue negotiations in this connection.

An executive meeting of St. Columba Anglican women's auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. W. M. Foster, Wellington Road, on Monday afternoon, when arrangements were made for the annual supper to be held in Strawberry Vale Community Hall this evening.

A lecture was given by Rev. W. Allan in Wilkinson Road church hall, the subject being "Missionary Work in the Garden of India." A description was given of the work carried on by the United Church general board, and also by the Women's Missionary Society. The lecture was illustrated by a series of slides.

Notes of the Legislature

Tomorrow: Opening debate will continue; probable speakers: Clive Planta, Independent, Peace River.

* * *

The C.C.F. party split right across the centre so that there was no need to change the seating arrangements to divide the two groups in the House. Harold E. Winch, Vancouver East, and Mrs. D. G. Steeves, North Vancouver, have two seats on the extreme south of the Opposition benches with E. E. Winch right behind them.

* * *

* * *

A slight change was made however, which leaves Mr. Price instead of Mr. Connell sitting next to Harold Winch.

* * *

* * *

The government plainly enjoyed references by Mr. Forester to his by-election victory which he attributed solely to the admirable achievements of the administration.

* * *

* * *

By special resolution, L. Arnold Hanna, Liberal, Comox, was appointed deputy speaker for the fourth time.

* * *

The House adjourned before 3.30 o'clock yesterday and the Liberal members repaired to their caucus room to talk over plans for the session.

SCOUTS TO FIX TOYS AGAIN

Want 12,000 Playthings to Distribute Christmastime

Victoria Boy Scouts will again play their part in bringing the Yuletide spirit into the homes of needy families in the city. The Boy Scouts Toy Shop will commence its Christmas crusade on November 9, it was decided at meeting of the committee in charge held Tuesday evening.

The Toy Shop this year will not confine its activities to the renovation of old toys alone, for they are cooperating with E. G. Snowden, in charge of the City Clothing Department, for whom they will also collect clothes to aid families who will need warm wearing apparel during the cold winter months.

Headed by William R. Bardsley, chairman, the Toy Shop committee for the 1937 campaign will consist of May Phillips, Mrs. Brock, C. R. Scarff, E. Merritt, G. Sherman, G. Kirchin, L. Young, P. Salmon, William O. Findlay and Freeman King.

Mrs. P. A. W. Parry and her volunteers will look after the distribution of clothes.

Although a check-up has not yet been completed, Chairman Bardsley is of the opinion that approximately 12,000 old toys will be required by the toy shop to meet the calls of the children of families which are facing unfortunate circumstances.

Negotiations are now going ahead to obtain a headquarters where scouts and volunteer workers can handle the toys which are expected to flock in.

The committee is planning a different method of collecting promised toys this season. The city will be divided into districts, with the Boy Scouts in the various areas being responsible for the collections. Scouts will be asked to undertake this after their school hours. Anything that is too big for them to handle will be collected by car every Saturday.

P. Salmon will undertake to contact the scoutmasters in the various districts, where to collect toys. The scoutmasters in turn will relay the messages to his members.

The telephone numbers for clothes and toy contributions are G 6994, G 3296 and G 4432.

PAINTING AND REPAIRING

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 29 (Canadian Press).—Expenditure of $600,000 for repairs and improvements to Windsor homes is planned by Harry J. Mero's rehabilitation committee. Designed to stimulate interest in a home improvement scheme, the plan will be financed through bank loans. The committee proposes to repair houses for exhibition purposes to demonstrate the best methods.

ALL OFFICERS ARE RETURNED

Drama Association Considers Policies at Annual Meeting

All officers were re-elected by the British Columbia Drama Association at its annual meeting last night in recognition of their work during the last year in forwarding the cause of dramatic art in the province.

The officers are: President, Major L. Bullock-Webster; vice-president, Herbert Pott; secretary, H. Roy Goldfinch, and treasurer, Harold G. Hinton. H. S. Hurn presided at the meeting in the absence of the president.

The many activities of the association were outlined in the president's report, read to the meeting by Miss Ethel Bale, associate secretary, and the importance of community drama was especially stressed.

SAFETY VALVE

"Community drama acts as a safety valve" was the chief theme of the report. Major Bullock-Webster believed it provided the occupation of leisure time which was necessary to prevent friction between those who were forced by circumstances to live in an uncongenial environment.

The general business of the association was covered in the report of Mr. Goldfinch, and Mr. Hinton as treasurer pointed to an encouraging financial standing.

STAGE SETTINGS

The problem of stage settings was discussed at some length, and it was left to the executive to remodel and clarify the regulations dealing with this matter. The suggestion was put forward that the association revert to the old rule of having all plays staged with the minimum of properties and before back curtains and side drapes. It was pointed out that among amateur artists there was a tendency to overdo the drops and wings and take away the interest of the audience from the action.

The question of the ground to be covered by adjudicators at the drama festival was also left to the executive for consideration. It was suggested that there be a separate hall and a separate adjudicator for juniors and seniors, and that it was practically impossible for one adjudicator to give accurate verdicts with so many plays presented in a single week.

The executive will also consider the age limit for intermediates.

The name of the association has been changed from British Columbia Drama Festival Association to British Columbia Drama Association.

HAPPY VALLEY

Under the sponsorship of the Happy Valley Parent-Teacher Association, a Hallowe'en party will be held in Luxton Hall Saturday evening. For school and pre-school age prizes will be awarded for girl's and boy's best costume, comic, original and for youngest competitor. Prizes donated by the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute will be awarded to pupils in grade nine and over for best girl and boy Hallowe'en costume, best dressed and best sustained character.

The Family Doctor

NERVE IRRITATION, GULPING OF FOOD ARE AMONG CAUSES OF HICCUPS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Ordinary hiccups are familiar to everyone.

When one breathes, the diaphragm contracts. The diaphragm is a large muscle separating the abdominal cavity from that of the chest. Movements of the diaphragm are controlled by a nerve which passes down to it from the upper part of the spinal cord in the region of the neck.

Dr. M. Fishbein

If this nerve is irritated at any point, the stimulation brought about by the irritation causes the constant spasm or contraction of the diaphragm, resulting in a hiccup.

The nerves are, of course, associated also with a central control in the brain. Abscesses or irritation resulting from inflammation of the tissues around this central control may cause long-continued periods of hiccupping.

There are other cases which are called chemical hiccups. These follow the eating of highly irritating foods or liquids.

If hiccups begin suddenly and disappear promptly, they are due usually to temporary causes, such as irritation from food, sudden dilatation of the stomach which may follow a surgical operation, or some temporary stimulus affecting the nerves.

Hiccups that last over long periods of time are due usually to a more permanent cause, affecting the central area in the brain. Occasionally, however, long-continued hiccups are due to emotional causes, with a hysterical element. Such hiccups will not stop until the emotional reaction is broken at some point.

Everybody has his own cure for ordinary hiccups. In emotional cases, the remedy may be a fixing of the attention on some new object or interest. Even in the physical cases, the shifting of attention may lower the threshold of irritation and thus bring about cessation of the hiccups.

Some common superstitions are that hiccups may be cured by standing in a corner and counting to 100, pressing on the upper lip, pressing on the roof of the mouth, taking five or seven sips of water, eating a dry piece of bread or some similar simple performance.

In persistent cases, doctors may wash out the stomach, prescribe narcotics or sedatives that will lower the threshold of irritation and give temporary relief, give enemas or doses of oil to clean out the entire intestinal tract, or attack the problem in some such manner.

Babies frequently have hiccups after swallowing food too rapidly with a considerable amount of air. If the baby is held on the shoulder and patted on the back, it will expel the air that is causing the hiccups.

In some instances, hiccups are so severe that they seem to threaten life itself, and surgical operations have been performed to cut off the stimulations passing through the nerve to the diaphragm.

Such surgical operations are, however, serious and are not attempted unless the condition has reached the stage in which it threatens life.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

OF THE 100 or more requests for special commemorative stamps received by the U.S. Post Office Department, one is for a stamp marking the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. Such an issue would be made in 1938.

* * *

There is hardly a probability that any more new stamps will be issued this year, except the first of the long-awaited Army and Navy series.

* * *

Canada is well ahead with plans for a series of King Edward VIII stamps, and is expected to produce these by the first of the year.

* * *

Following release of the Rizal commemorative stamps, the Philippines are preparing a series of six stamps marking the Eucharistic Congress to be held in Manila early next year. These stamps, however, will be ready for sale October 15. Following this set, the islands will issue a series of three stamps November 15, commemorating the first anniversary of the commonwealth.

* * *

A record sale of 30,000,000 of the new King Edward VIII stamps was made on the first day of issue. Most of these probably were taken up by speculators who figured on withdrawal of the design after the five days' trial.

* * *

Meeting of the Spanish-American Postal Congress in Panama City during October is occasion for Panama's issue of a new series of stamps commemorating the event. There will be ten values for ordinary postage, and six for airmail.

COUNCIL WILL MEET FRIDAY

General Meeting Scheduled to Facilitate Speedy C.P.S. By-law Amendment

The City Council will hold a regular meeting tomorrow afternoon to amend the new C.P.S. by-law in respect to certain foreshore clauses, Acting Mayor James Adam announced today.

The meeting has been called for 4 o'clock in order to enable final passage of the by-law at a meeting on Monday at the same hour.

Other general matters will be discussed including the report from the fire wardens on the application to the provincial government of the B.C. Firefighters' Association for a shorter working week.

Further consideration will also be given the offer of Harry Kavaner, Winnipeg, to lease the grain elevator.

ELEVATOR ISSUE

At a closed meeting of the industrial and trades development committee, with the finance committee, the proposal was considered generally yesterday.

Mr. Kavaner has submitted an offer to lease the elevator at a rental of $1 a year until June, 1938, with 50 per cent of the net income being paid to the city. After that date in 1938, he suggests payment of a rental of $40,000 a year.

Discussion yesterday indicated the aldermen favored the City Council should have more authority in any deal concerning the lease of the elevator. Methods by which the city might secure power to terminate the Panama Pacific Company's option without lengthy foreclosure action were considered. Tomorrow the council will probably consider application to the provincial government for special power in that matter.

Suit Hidden In "TNT"

If South, Bidding No Trump, Had Mentioned Spades, Opponents Would Have Set Him By Ruffing

By WM. E. McKENNEY

There is one trouble with some very good bidding at the bridge table. It reveals so much to the opponents that the declarer helps to bring about the defeat of his own eventual contract through the information he has disclosed.

The correct principle of bidding is to tell enough about your hand to keep your partner bidding if you have a hand of game strength, and to conceal your distribution as well as possible from your opponents.

In today's hand, which is another illustration of the "TNT" system of bidding, popular throughout New England, the "hidden suit" in the South hand might have been used to defeat the contract; but with the forcing no trump opening, it was never bid and the fit in hearts was found without mentioning South's suit.

The one no trump bid is based on a minimum of 3½ honor tricks and seven high cards in the hand, or four honor tricks and not less than six high cards.

North's response shows one honor trick and four playing tricks, with hearts as trumps. With this information, South jumps at once to game, without bothering to show the spades.

It was a happy choice. Had spades been bid, East, holding five spades and the ace of trumps, probably would have opened a spade, and, by giving his partner a ruff, defeated the contract.

With the lead actually made, the contract could not be beaten.

North and South are using the "TNT" system, with no trump opening as a forcing bid. When South opens with one no trump, should a game contract be reached?

Are You Guarding Your Child

THIS WAY—Asking Your Doctor About Home Remedies You Use?

Practically every mother knows the physician's rule. Don't give your child unknown remedies without asking your doctor first. Children's specialists give this warning continually. And educators and writers on child welfare repeat it everywhere.

When it comes to the widely used children's remedy — "milk of magnesia" — many doctors for over half a century have said "PHILLIPS." For Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is the standard of the world. Safe for children. Made by an original process in a laboratory devoted solely to making this important remedy; there is no other "quite like it."

Keep this in mind, and say "PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA" when you buy. Comes now, also in tablet form. Tablets that taste like peppermint candy, and that contain the equivalent of the liquid Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Get the form you prefer. But see that what you get is labeled "Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia." 25¢ for a big box of tablets.

LUMBERING LEADS IN CANADA EMPLOYMENT INCREASE

September Gains Highest of Year

Employment Index For Dominion at October 1 Highest Since November, 1930; Timber Trade Provides Jobs For 16,700 More Than at September 1; Manufacturing Also Has Payroll Increase

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—The most marked improvement in industrial employment in Canada at October 1 as compared with September 1 was shown in logging and manufacturing, according to a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, issued yesterday.

The total increase of 28,539 workers throughout Canada in all fields was the largest reported so far in any month of the present year, with staffs of 10,020 firms aggregating 1,044,178 persons on October 1 compared with 1,015,639 persons on September 1.

During September logging added 16,700 to its payrolls and manufacturing provided work for nearly 15,600 additional workers. Expansion in these two industries was greater for the month than in any other year for which statistics are available.

Mining and trade also recorded heightened activity while the trend was seasonally downward in services, construction and maintenance. Transportation also showed a downward trend.

INDEX IS HIGH

The advance in all fields raised the index of employment in Canada from 107.1 at September 1 to 110.1 at October 1. This was the highest point reached since November 1, 1930. On October 1, 1935, the index stood at 106.1. After correction for seasonal variations the rise was from 102.7 on September 1 to 105.0 on October 1.

The general trend was upward in Ontario, according to 4,434 employers of 436,435 persons, or 17,258 more than at the beginning of September. The index was 112.6.

A further increase in employment was noted in the prairie provinces at the beginning of October, improvement occurring in manufacturing, mining, logging, building and highway construction and trade, while railway operation and construction, services and communications were quieter. Index was 108.6.

MORE LOGGING IN B.C.

Employment in British Columbia showed curtailment, mainly in manufacturing (owing to the termination of the fish-canning season), while transportation and services also released employees.

On the other hand, logging, mining and trade reported greater activity, and, within the group of factory employment, vegetable food and some other factories also recorded improvement.

Data were tabulated from 1,064 employers, whose payrolls declined from 92,395 persons at September 1, to 91,424 at the beginning of October. The index for the province stood at 108.1.

Economic Control Laid Down As Aim For Connell Group

liberty and legitimately increasing it, respecting religious loyalties and upholding the freedom of the press, and the supremacy of the Crown as the constitutional expression of the rights of the people as a whole.

"The constructive work of such a group will be done chiefly through the development of co-operative principles, in the form of consumers' co-operatives, producers' co-operatives and co-operatives combining the interests of both consumers and producers.

"The government under such an alliance will substitute for the present lukewarm, if not icy cold, attitude of our old parties one of solicitous interest. It will encourage co-operative action in every part of this province, and in every suitable industry. It will place at the service of such co-operatives the knowledge and experience its various departments possess.

NO BUREAUCRACY

"Instead of endeavoring to build up a bureaucracy at Victoria it will encourage to its utmost local initiative wherever possible, believing that the practical work of the co-operatives will be one of the most potent agencies in that much-needed thing, adult education.

"Alongside the schoolhouse or collected about it, metaphorically at any rate, will be the co-operatives in which the men and women of the neighborhood will be learning the lessons of management and control, and of a new type of social and economic life. That such education will not stay within the co-operatives' circle but will pass out into wider fields of human thought and interest, I have little doubt.

"As I said last session, I believe that along these lines lies the real remedy for our unemployment problem, a vastly better one than our present relief schemes. I have singled out the co-operative principle not merely as an example of what the government of this province would do if it were in the hands of such social constructives, but because in our work it would be the most important positive action we could take.

"It is interesting to recall that this promotion and encouragement of co-operative enterprises was given a prominent place in that historic document of the newer Canadian view in economics, known as the Regina Manifesto of 1933, to whose general principles the members of the official opposition adhere.

"The principal items of that programme are:

"Social planning for a more efficient development of the national resources and the most equitable distribution of the national income.

"The public control of all financial machinery.

"The further continuance and extension of the public ownership of Canada to include such industries and services as are deemed essential to social planning.

CO-OPERATIVES WORKABLE

"As I pointed out last year, the provincial limitations do not make the immediate application of all these possible, but the one which in our opinion is the basic one, namely the last, is immediately practicable, and it is our intention if the people of this province return us to power to proceed forthwith along these lines. We believe that each industry should be taken on its own merits and that no attempt should be made or ought to be made to take up a merely doctrinaire attitude and endeavor to squeeze every productive or distributive problem into the same mould.

"We have to build up a new system of living, of production and distribution, not to reconstruct, but to construct. It is not so much a matter of new materials as of a new way of using them. To reconstruct suggests putting the bricks of the old building back where they were before; to construct means a new plan, a new structure, more fitted to express the complex needs of our modern life.

REMOVE "NETTLES" FIRST

"There is, however, certain fundamental work to do, which may be described as negative in character. There is about the old building an entanglement of ivy and nettles that must needs be removed to let in light and air for the new foundation walls. To that work a constructive government must put its hand at the very beginning."

PATRONAGE FLAYED

Mr. Connell condemned the "spoils system" of politics and partizanship. It was time the "axe was laid to the root" of this system, he said.

He childed the Premier about his name going on the new Fraser River bridge, saying that as this was the "last public work likely to be carried out under such conditions," it was doubtful "whether it will redound to his fame in years to come."

The Opposition Leader, in complimentary remarks to Mr. Speaker Perry, proposed that a permanent non-electoral constituency be created for the office of Speaker, such as the University of British Columbia. The speaker would resign his electoral seat after appointment to represent such a constituency, as is proposed in Britain.

CAPITAL NECESSARY

Mr. Connell analysed the difference between capitalism and capital in the sense that it is often criticized. Capital, he said, was necessary under any system of economic life. It was just as essential under state ownership, communism, collectivism, socialism or any other system.

"The question is," he said, "what amount is necessary and who shall own and control it."

Private monopoly, ruthless exploitation and wild speculation were features of the capitalist system that had led to poverty, discouragement and hopelessness.

New Exploration Of Stratosphere

Associated Press

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 29.—A comprehensive search of the stratosphere by means of a half dozen unmanned radio-equipped balloons being contructed at the University of Minnesota will begin about November 1, says Professor Jean Piccard.

"Too little is known about the stratosphere to say definitely what we hope to find," Professor Piccard declared.

Russian Tanks On Spain Front

"READY FOR VICTORY"

Associated Press

Madrid, Oct. 29.—Spain's government announced cryptically today it had "everything necessary for victory," a phrase generally interpreted to mean the defenders of Madrid had obtained sufficient tanks, airplanes and other war materials to meet insurgent besiegers on even terms.

(In the newest round of international charges and countercharges, Italy yesterday accused Russia of sending men and war materials to Madrid on twenty occasions during the current month.)

Coincident with the announcement, made by Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, the government radio informed the populace to not be alarmed if many planes appeared over the capital today. The planes, the broadcast said, would be government aircraft in review formation.

Later, the Premier, in a proclamation to the militia forces, called on the troops to make a supreme effort to drive the insurgents from the Madrid area and said: "The government now has tanks and aviation."

ITALIAN SUBMARINES

Associated Press

Paris, Oct. 29.—The Spanish embassy here announced today it had confidential information that a fleet of Italian submarines was awaiting sailing orders at Gaeta, Italy, to establish a blockade of the Catalonian coast, and perhaps attack the Spanish government stronghold.

An embassy spokesman, warning that the civil war on the Iberian Peninsula might at any moment break out into a grave international conflict, said the information had come from "an absolutely trustworthy source."

Eight submarines, he contended, had been painted with the red and gold colors of the Spanish insurgents at Gaeta, which is forty miles northwest of Naples.

"We do not know what pretext will be used to put the fleet into action," said the spokesman, "but our information is the action will start within a week."

He said the submarines may join in a combined sea and air attack on autonomous, government-supporting Catalonia. President Manuel Azana now has established offices at Barcelona, capital of the region.

PLANS ARE AIDED

Earlier the newspaper L'Oeuvre had said Italy and Germany were supporting Spanish insurgent plans to attack Catalonia, in case Madrid should fall.

The newspaper said preparations for the attack were being hastened at Mallorca "largely supported by Italian and even German forces," with eight submarines ready to leave northern Italy for the Balearics. No source was cited by the newspaper as foundation for the report.

It also declared the insurgents had recently received 112 bombing and pursuit planes.

ON MALLORCA

The Spanish spokesman also reiterated previous charges that Italy had landed a large number of troops on the Balearic Island of Mallorca which, he said, may be destined for use against Catalonia.

These troops, the spokesman charged, are supported by 112 Italian airplanes.

The first step in the campaign, he predicted, would be an attempted Italian blockade of the Catalonian coast to keep provisions from reaching Spanish government territory. Thereafter, he said, an actual attack may be expected.

Asked what hope the government forces have of defending themselves against such an attack, the spokesman replied: "We can always be counted on to do our utmost."

LOYALISTS ATTACK

Associated Press

Madrid, Oct. 29.—Meagre advices trickling in from the battlefront south of the capital today indicated a government offensive against the insurgents had begun at 6 a.m. at Sesena. The government claimed the town of Torrejon had been recaptured and that the important highway point of Illescas was being approached.

A series of advances by government troops in the extreme northern and eastern sectors also were claimed by the Madrid authorities.

HOSPITAL BOMBED

There also were reports from governmental defenders of Bilbao that insurgent planes had bombarded a hospital and from Belchite that 200 government sympathizers, men, women and children, had been lined up and executed by insurgent firing squads.

In the capital, 2,000 women volunteered to substitute for streetcar motormen who have been mustered into the militia ranks.

PLANES DESTROYED

Waves of rejoicing swept disheartened Madrid today as the government announced Socialist bombing planes had destroyed at least seventeen Fascist aircraft yesterday.

Distraught women, their emotions brought near the breaking-point by daily raids over the capital, wept tears of "joyous vengeance" on reading the news.

The official bulletin hailed the air successes as "the most marked triumph" since the civil war began more than fourteen weeks ago.

Twelve insurgent planes were destroyed at Talavera de la Reina in the southwest, the government reported, and at least five others were blown to bits in a Socialist air raid on Seville. Heartened by these triumphs, however distant, women ran along the newly-mobilized column of 35,000 civilians. As it marched through the streets to the defence of the capital exhorting them:

"Fight to the death! Victory is yours."

MORE VIOLENT STAGE

Under the headline "Spain is no African colony," the newspaper Claridad attacked reports received here of an agreement to partition Spain as reached by Chancellor Hitler of Germany and Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister. The newspaper voiced a warning that the war "at any moment may enter a much more brutal and desperate phase."

Winnipeg, Oct. 29 (Canadian Press).—William Ferguson, reported dead at Pincher Creek, Alta., represented Hamiota in the Manitoba Legislature for twelve years. He was elected to the Legislature in 1899.

In the federal election of 1917, Mr. Ferguson was the active chairman of the union forces on behalf of Hon. T. A. Crerar, now Dominion Minister of Mines.

Consider Plan To End Strike

Associated Press

Seattle, Oct. 29.—A proposal to reopen the strike-bound Seattle Post-Intelligencer was considered today by committees of the Seattle Central Labor Council and striking members of the American Newspaper Guild, who called the strike August 13.

The committees, to which the question was referred last night by the Central Labor Council, probably will report next Wednesday evening on whether they favor accepting the proposal, submitted by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

The terms of the proposal are: All strikers would be reinstated. The Post-Intelligencer would be removed from the Central Labor Council's "unfair list." pickets would be removed from the newspaper plant, and publication would be resumed as soon as possible.

SEEK BAN ON STORK DERBY

Relatives of Late Charles Vance Millar Ask Injunction in Toronto to Prevent Payment of $750,000 to Mother Or Mothers

Canadian Press

Toronto, Oct. 29.—A large question mark was written over the will of the late Charles Vance Millar today as it headed for the Ontario courts.

The executors are seeking direction as to interpretation of the "stork derby" clause and distribution of the estate, now estimated at $750,000. Relatives of Millar are seeking an injunction preventing them from doing just that.

It was a foregone conclusion months ago that the clause in the barrister's will that leaves a fortune to a Toronto mother who has borne the most children in the ten years ending Saturday ultimately would be settled by a judge.

No sooner had the executors applied to Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton and obtained a hearing for November 6, however, than Samuel Factor, K.C., M.P., filed a writ on behalf of relatives seeking to invalidate the will on the grounds it is "contrary to public policy and is uncertain."

CONTESTANT HOLDS OUT

On the contestants' side of the case Mrs. Matthew Kenny was the lone hold-out today on a tacit agreement to let their claims go in with nine children each. Mrs. Pauline Clarke, Mrs. Arthur Timlock, Mrs. John Nagle and Mrs. Annie Smith agreed, but Mrs. Kenny still declared she would press her claims to twelve and claim the entire fortune herself. Only nine are registered.

Action to upset the will was brought by Alexander Butcher and Mrs. Arabella West of Port Burwell, Ont., nephew and niece of the late Nancy Vance Millar and assignees of James Noell of Pasadena, Calif., to whom Nancy Miller bequeathed her interests. Nancy Vance Miller was a step-aunt of the late Charles Vance Millar.

They are seeking an injunction against the executors restraining them from distributing the fortune, declaring the clause "has encouraged and promoted a race or competition among women to bear children in order to obtain money contrary to the welfare of the community."

Announcing all mothers with claims to the fortune should appear in court November 6 the executors said they would ask the court if the "stork derby" clause is valid; if it is valid, to ascertain the beneficiary; and if invalid, to ascertain those entitled to it on intestacy.

FRIEND OF MILLAR

John D. Montgomery, senior partner in one of Toronto's oldest law firms, broke a long silence today to talk about his friend, the late Charles Vance Millar.

For forty years, he said, he had worked with the author of Toronto's strange "stork derby."

"I believe I was closer to him for a longer time than any man now living," said Mr. Montgomery. "He was generous. He was always generous outside the office, though inside he was strict."

Millar put himself through university, winning scholarships. He started in a law office at $3 a week. Later he prospered, but Mr. Montgomery did not think he was "worth very much" when he made his now internationally famous will.

Asked why he made it, he laughed and said something about an agitation at the time for increase population, but he really did not know "what was in his mind."

"He was one of the hardest men on facts that it has ever been my pleasure to know," said Mr. Montgomery. He ridiculed hypocrisy, indiscriminate charity, but he had his own charities through which he contributed considerable amounts."

UNJUSTLY BERATED

Mr. Montgomery mentioned one case of a maiden lady whose father had been Millar's friend. For ten years after the estate had ceased to exist, Millar paid her $100 a month income, and she, not knowing of the deception, berated him once for not raising the income to $150.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT

The British government had not for one single second entertained such a proposal, "nor have we any evidence to support the Soviet charges against Portugal . . . There is no first-hand evidence that Portugal has broken the agreement," Mr. Eden said.

The Foreign Secretary held that despite difficulties the agreement was still working. And he warned members of the Labor Party against "out-Sovieting the Soviet."

RUSSIA AS MASTER

Dealing with labor demands that aid be permitted the Spanish government, Mr. Eden told the Commons:

"What they (the government's critics) were asking was that the French and our own government, who had worked all through the weeks of August and September to try to get the committee going, should destroy what had been done, and, when they had destroyed it, Soviet Russia would be left master of the field.

"The government has no intention of lending itself to anything of this kind. The mere fact that all nations still are members of the committee only shows that Europe believes this (non-intervention) policy is the right policy to pursue.

"It is easy enough for anybody to say now that 'this arrangement is helping one side more than another.' But our purposes in non-intervention were not to help one side or the other, but to prevent the civil war—save in itself—from passing the boundaries of Spain and involving the whole of Europe," he said.

Non-intervention, Mr. Eden acknowledged, was merely "a device by which we hope to limit the risks of war," not an attempt to set a precedent or to establish an unvarying principle.

"It is an improvised safety curtain," he said, which two democratic governments, Great Britain and France, must employ in order to prevent "international recriminations and maybe war."

DESCRIBED AS PAWN

Rt. Hon. Arthur Greenwood, Labor, carrying the opposition attack, declared:

"Spain now has become a pawn in a game of power and politics.

Japanese Airline Plans Questioned

League of Nations May Hear Debate on System Proposed For Mandate Islands in Pacific

Geneva, Oct. 29. — Authoritative quarters said today Japan may be questioned on its decision to organize airlines over a vast expanse of the South Pacific.

The decision to connect Japan with its far-flung mandated islands below the Equator, necessitating the construction of airdromes, was reported to the current meeting of the League of Nations mandate commission.

Japan was granted control of the islands in reward for her support of the Allies during the Great War. Observers, studying the Japanese plan to establish a network of airlines, have raised the question of how purely commercial airplanes can be differentiated clearly from military or semi-military craft.

Japan has stated officially, however, the lines merely will carry mail and official documents, making observations "o movements of fish," and establish a speedy chain of communications with the distant islands.

Minor British Cabinet Changes

As Parliament Reassembles Ministry Slightly Reshuffled

London, Oct. 29.—A minor cabinet reshuffle was announced today as Parliament reassembled after the summer recess. It involved an increase of one in the membership of the cabinet, bringing it up to twenty-three.

Rt. Hon. Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, was appointed secretary for Scotland. Mr. Elliot succeeds Sir Godfrey Collins, who died earlier this month.

W. S. Morrison, financial secretary to the Treasury, was named Minister of Agriculture.

Rt. Hon. Leslie Hore-Belisha, who has made a good record as Minister of Transport, was raised to full cabinet rank, in order to maintain the Liberal National representation of four ministers in the cabinet.

At the bedside were his three sisters, Misses Rebecca, Etta and Edith, who live in suburban Islington, and his brother, Milton Norris. Mr. Norris was a bachelor.

ELECTED IN 1896

Since 1896, when he first was elected to the Manitoba Leislature, Mr. Norris had been consistently in the public eye. An excellent, forceful debater, he was prominent in legislative matters, and in 1910 was named leader of the Liberal Party.

The R. P. Roblin Conservative administration was strongly entrenched, but Norris-led Liberals made a big gain in the general election of 1914. Following exposure of irregularities in connection with construction of new Manitoba Legislative Buildings, the Roblin government resigned in 1915 and in the election that followed the Liberals were returned.

JOINED BOARD IN 1928

Mr. Norris was Premier until a strong agrarian movement brought about his defeat in the House. The Liberal Party met a serious reverse in the 1922 election when John Bracken's Progressive government was returned. Mr. Norris was himself elected in the Lansdowne constituency, and he remained as a member of the House until his appointment to the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada in 1928.

Mr. Norris was known to a circle of acquaintances in Victoria. On several occasions in recent years he visited the city and sat with fellow members of the Railway Commission at the hearing of applications.

EUROPE SAVES ALL ITS WOOD

Logan Mayhew Describes Cycle Tour of Continent to Credit Granters

Every twig and chip of wood was saved in Europe, in contrast with the prodigal waste of the timber of British Columbia, Logan Mayhew observed in a talk on his recent cycle tour of the continent before the Credit Granters' Association at a luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining room Thursday.

Mr. Mayhew, who cycled through seven countries with a friend, Roy Denny, also of this city, compared the scenery with that in British Columbia and in most cases found it not as beautiful.

The cities of Europe, however, were interesting in their antiquity and history. At Amboise they visited a castle where 1,700 Hugenots were thrown from the ramparts to the moats below.

Contrary to expectations they were not bothered for passports in Germany, and they found the German people friendly and willing to go out of their way to help tourists.

Leaving Seattle aboard the Norwegian vessel, Oregon Express, Mr. Mayhew said they arrived in Liverpool in thirty-five days. From there they went to London, where they bought their bicycles and started on their tour, which took them through England, France, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Holland and Belgium.

Mr. Mayhew was introduced by Lawrence Mallek and thanked by T. W. MacPherson, president of the association.

Members of the association were urged to attend the Social Welfare Conference at the Empress Hotel on November 3 and 4 by George E. MacDonald.

Travel and Trade Discussed Here

Interchange of tourist travel between Southern California and British Columbia was discussed yesterday by Fox Case, director of public relations for the All-year Club of Southern California, Los Angeles, with George I. Warren, Victoria and Island Publicity commissioner.

E. F. MacDonough, trade commissioner for the department of foreign commerce and shipping, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, also was in the city yesterday conferring with the local Chamber of Commerce on trade promotion matters.

Further co-operation with Victoria in publicity was taken up by Mr. Case while here. His organization spent $300,000 in newspaper publicity advertising last year and the entire campaign was confined to the United States with the exception of Victoria and Vancouver. The All-year Club handles all the Southern California community tourist advertising south of San Francisco.

Farm Openings Are Available

Transients Cannot Expect Aid If They Do Not Apply For Jobs, Says Pearson

If unemployed transients in Vancouver who are demanding relief show their bona fides and honesty of purpose by applying for farm jobs, the only plan advanced so far by the Dominion Government to meet their case, the province will see that they are taken care of until they can be placed.

This, in substance, was what Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, told a Vancouver citizen's delegation which interviewed the provincial cabinet this morning, urging something be done for the unemployed transients there who are being arrested for selling flowers.

The delegation was headed by Dr. Willard Brewing. They suggested that prosecution of the men for technical breaches of the law should be suspended until some plan was laid down for their future.

Mr. Pearson said his department had recent reports from employment offices on the prairies showing that the demand for farm hands under the new federal placement scheme had exceeded the applications of men for the jobs, indicating there were now places open for the transients in British Columbia, if they went to the prairies.

Unless the men showed a willingness to take assistance by applying for farm placements, they would not be considered as showing an honest desire to get jobs, he said.

Physicists Urge Drastic Changes

Too Much Emphasis on "New" Atomic Physics, Scientists Told

By ROBERT D. POTTER
Science Service Staff Writer

New York, Oct. 29. — Drastic changes in the kind of scientific education needed to place more graduate physicists in industry were outlined here this morning in the opening session of the meeting of the nation's five leading societies of physics.

The American Institute of Physics, it was revealed, has queried fifty of the country's leading industrial physicists to find out what industry wants in the oncoming generations of scientists and what is wrong with the present system of training them.

Too much emphasis on the so-called "new" physics with its atoms, atomic nuclei and theoretical mathematics on the structure of the atom and a consequent lack of the older but more practically useful "classical" physics was a major criticism advanced by the industrial replies.

Dr. Homer L. Dodge, dean of the University of Oklahoma Graduate School, and Dr A. R. Oplin, director of research of Kendall Mills, Boston, outlined the replies and interpreted them for the meeting honoring the fifth anniversary of the founding of the American Institute of Physics by the American Physical Society, the Acoustical Society of America, the Optical Society of America, the Society of Rheology and the American Association of Physics Teachers.

NEEDS OF INDUSTRY

Industries need physicists trained in the fields of optics, magnetism and acoustics, it was disclosed, and yet too little emphasis is placed on these fields of physics in academic training, either undergraduate or graduate. The reason is that the best known scientists are working on the problems of cosmic rays, atomic disintegration and transmutation, and the younger students naturally look up to them for guidance and inspiration.

The personality of a prospective physicist entering industry is as important as his technical and scientific knowledge, in the opinion of some of the industrial research leaders queried. The need is great for men who can work with and lead others.

Dean Dodge pointed out that this factor of personality can hardly be developed by any academic course, but comes rather from extra-curricular activities. College activity in the dramatic club, the school newspaper or magazine, playing on athletic teams would thus appear to have a value in many ways as important as the scientific training attained.

Some training in engineering courses is advocated for future industrial physicists. Industry finds it is better and easier to use a student trained adequately in physics and have him in the plant, attain his additional engineering knowledge than to try to give the engineering student the additional knowledge of physics.

So rapid is industrial progress today that new products are produced, manufactured and then become obsolete in a short space of time. Much of industries' wants, therefore, are of a developmental nature, and students trained in physics are able to do this work better than those with an engineering training.

MATHEMATICAL PROBLEMS

Physicists receive adequate training in mathematics, it was shown by the survey among industrial research leaders, but it is not taught properly. As one research director said:

"It is one thing to solve a neat row of mathematical symbols and quite another to understand a problem well enough to set up a differential equation, determine the constants of integration and keep one's feet on physical ground through the whole process."

The application of mathematics to definite physical problems is needed. Many men advocated courses in graduate school to meet this need.

If in mathematics the need is for better training rather than more of it the opposite is true in chemistry training for industrial physicists. Most industrial laboratories do not employ physicists as such because few physicists have had sufficient chemistry. Yet the industrial chemists do much work which is strictly physics. In smaller companies, especially, the scientist desired must know science rather than merely chemistry or physics.

Detail Given Of Capital Outlays

B.C. Expenditures From Borrowings in Last Fiscal Year Given as $8,209,449

The British Columbia government spent $8,209,449 in funds raised by loan in the fiscal year ending last March 31, according to the public accounts tabled in the Legislature by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance. Most of the accommodation was secured from the federal government.

Practically all this expenditure was for the relief of unemployment and the creation of work for the jobless, the accounts indicate.

The loans for relief were $7,445,000.

The other capital expenditures were $430,658 on the Fraser River bridge, $83,158 on highways and bridges damaged in floods, $130,000 on the P.G.E. Railway, and $120,632 on public buildings.

The expenditures on public works, in addition to the ordinary maintenance, amounted to some $2,509,000, of which $494,475 was to repair flood damage and $1,876,250 on the road programme.

Expenses of the young men's forestry training camps were $91,646 and of the placer-mining camps for young men $15,806.

Advances of $507,364 for direct relief and $185,012 for works were made to municipalities.

The total provincial expenditure on relief of all kinds, including the works programmes, was $8,267,867, of which $7,445,000 was financed by loans and the remainder through temporary advances from current funds.

CHEMAINUS

Chemainus, Oct. 29.—Victor Jackson, a member of the Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau, has obtained a position with the Cameron Lumber Company at Victoria, and with Mrs. Jackson and their son, left on Sunday to take up their residence at the Gorge.

Mrs. Jackson and her sister were presented farewell gifts from the women's auxiliary to the Church of St. Michael's and All Angels', Chemainus.

Mrs. L. Humfrey, who has been spending two weeks in Victoria as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Inglis, has returned home.

Robert Lang of Victoria spent last week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Lang.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Porter have had their daughter, Miss Violet Porter of Victoria, on a brief visit.

Operation of the fingerprint section of the city police department received deserving praise yesterday during a visit from Sidney W. Bass, deputy chief of the New Westminster police department, and a recognized authority on fingerprint work. Mr. Bass was taken through the department by Police Chief Heatley and warmly commended T. Harvey Bamford, director of the bureau, and his assistant, William Ostler. Mr. Ostler's work in filing print cards was mentioned particularly by the deputy chief, who said the method of dividing and classifying them was excellent.

Dominoes Score One-sided Victory In Basketball Opener

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

A PIONEER OF professional hockey in New York is without a team today because his cash returns were ont equal to his ambitions.

The pioneer is Bill Dwyer, the team the New York Americans of the National Hockey League. Dwyer owed the league a few thousand dollars, so the board of governors relieved him of his franchise. Anybody with a flair for puck chasing—plus some $200,000—can become the new boss of the Amerks.

* * *

The ousting of Bill Dwyer from big-time hockey comes as the first major event of the 1936-'37 campaign. But it is an event attended with considerable pathos, for Dwyer and the late Bill Dugan took a chance in 1925 when other so-called sportsmen were afraid to risk a dime on a professional sextette in Manhattan.

Dwyer and Duggan put up the cash, and thus was born the New York American Hockey Club. The Rangers were organized in 1926, the following year. They became the representative hockey team of Madison Square Garden, but Dwyer did not complain. He just put up plenty of rent money each time his Amerks performed.

* * *

The hockey cards were stacked against Dwyer from the start. In the early days the Amerks were a merry, high-living crew, with no thought of training. They ran through money like water. Year after year Dwyer's hockey books showed a tremendous loss.

The exorbitant rent he paid the Garden had Dwyer in the hole before he started Even last April, when his team won a play-off position for the first time in history, Dwyer used red ink in the ledger. All told, his eleven-year hockey venture cost him some $750,000. Poor management, poor playing, and poor returns for efforts expended all contributed.

* * *

Dwyer fought until the last to hold his hockey team. His profits from his race tracks helped a bit, but his Miami Night Club proved another white elepnant.

He borrowed money from the National Hockey League so that his players might receive their salaries. The league officials demanded reimbursement a couple of days back, but Dwyer was unable to produce the necessary cash.

* * *

It looks like Dwyer's finish in the world of flashing skates. Reports have it that he needs about $200,000 to get on his feet. Under the circumstances the Amerks probably will go to the highest bidder, with Mervyn (Red) Dutton remaining the manager.

Marty Shenkert, Amerk business manager, may try for an injunction to prevent the removal of the team franchise, but it is doubtful. Without ready funds Dwyer is licked, and he knows it.

It is too bad, however. As the man who brought the game to New York, Dwyer deserves a better fate.

* * *

After settling Dwyer's case the governors made a couple of rule changes. This season the penalty shot circle will be two feet closer to the nets, and a maximum of two assists will be awarded on each goal.

All the six National Hockey League sextets will show line up changes. The Rangers will be minus Bun Cook, who has gone to Boston. The Maroons told Hooley Smith to go sell himself. Coaching shifts see Art Ross replacing Frank Patrick on the Boston bench, and Cecil Hart resuming his old job with Les Canadiens.

* * *

The Amerks are experimenting with several new defence men, including Johnny Gallagher, former Red Wing, Bill Burnett, and Red Hammill. Johnny Wing, great all-round athlete at Queens University, is trying out with the Maroons. Les Canadiens have Howie Morenz back in the fold (which should put dollars in the box office), and Detroit may sign an American-born star—a youth named Mud Bruneteau, who attended Michigan. Many junior leaguers are trying for Ranger jobs.

All the clubs look a bit stronger, which augurs a snappy season. But Dwyer will not be present, it appears, and things just will not look the same.

SUNDERLAND WINS

Sunderland, England, Oct. 29.—Sunderland won the English Football Association Charity Shield yesterday, defeating Arsenal 2 to 1. Last year Sheffield Wednesday nosed out Arsenal 1 to 0 in the final for the trophy.

Caps End Game With Four Men

Latest edition of the Dominoes basketball club made its debut at the High School gym yesterday evening, before 700 cheering fans, and proceeded to waltz through the Capitals, 44 to 22, in the opening clash of the senior A men's division. In doubling the score on their opponents the Dominoes had far the better of the play throughout the forty minutes.

Composing only two of last year's club, Chuck and Art Chapman, the Dominoes trotted out a smart playing aggregation. The six rookies worked in well with the Chapmans and on the evening's exhibition the new squad will take a lot of beating. The Dominoes have just as big a club as ever and all their men pack plenty of weight.

The Capitals, who had on their line-up four former Dominoes, Red Martin, Ollie Goldsmith, Porky Andrews and Alex. McKeachie, were greatly handicapped through lack of height. Art Chapman controlled the centre jump, while the giant Chuck Chapman made it plenty tough for the Caps to get many rebounds. The passing and floor work of the Capitals lacked the zip and finesse of the western champions. For the first ten minutes the Capitals were in the game but after that it was just a walkaway.

PLAY RUGGED

Play was rugged and inclined to be rough at times. Referee Tommy Macedo let the boys get away with nothing and plenty of fouls were called. The Capitals lost Alex. McKeachie, Goldsmith and Martin on personals and were forced to the finish the game with only four men on the floor. Art Chapman was also waved to the bench before the finish.

At half-time the Dominoes were out in front by a 25 to 9 score.

When the teams stepped onto the floor, to warm up before the start, the reception for each was about fifty-fifty with the players on both sides drawing a certain number of boos.

On the opening tip-off the Dominoes went through for a basket Austin Webster converting a pass from Art Chapman. The Capitals secured possession and Martin dropped through a long one. A. McKeachie fouled Webster and he made the line shot good. Goldsmith took a pass from Martin to make it 4 to 3 for the Capitals. Sheppard canned a free throw, while Chuck Chapman dropped one in at the other end.

Goldsmith was pulled up for hacking Coates and the guard tied the score at 5 to 5, with six minutes gone. Roy Taylor pushed the Dominoes on top with another converted line toss. The score was deadlocked again at 8 to 8 but from that point on the Dominoes really went to town.

Art Chapman, Cates, Taylor and "Red" Davies, young Vancouver recruit, started hooping shot after shot and the score mounted steadily.

SECOND HALF

With the opening of the second half the Dominoes continued to put on the pressure and the Capitals were unable to halt the tide of baskets.

Play got rougher and Referee Macedo was kept busy caling personals. Alex. McKeachie soon finished play for the evening. Shortly after a double foul was called on Hank Rowe and Goldsmith for shoving each other around. Martin hoved Art Chapman as he was in under the basket and was whistled off the court. Goldsmith and Rowe got into another pushing match and the second double foul was called on them. It was Goldsmith's fourth personal and he left the floor. He was followed minutes later by Art Chapman. For the remainder the game play was slow with the Caps having four men against five.

Black-Leonard Will Play Here

Four of British Columbia's leading amateur golfers will engage in an exhibition match at the Victoria Golf Club on Sunday when Jimmy Todd and Bob Morrison, Oak Bay, oppose Kenny Black and Stan Leonard, Vancouver stars. The affair will be over thirty-six holes with the morning round starting at 10 o'clock and the afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The public is invited to follow the players.

WOULD CHANGE A.A.U. RULES

Ten Important Resolutions Will Be Brought Up at Annual Meeting Soon

Toronto, Oct. 29.—At least ten resolutions designed to make the amateur athlete a little less amateur, in the accepted sense of the word, will be considered by the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada in Regina next month. A printed list of notices of motion was received here yesterday.

While the Canadian Amateur Association's suggestion for broadening of the amateur definition tops all others in general interest, a series of resolutions from various A.A.U. branches and allied organizations are also down for discussion.

Amateur heads will fight hardest against the C.A.H.A. demand that professionals in one sport be considered amateurs in others, that players have the right to use their playing ability as a means of obtaining employment, that payment of broken time be permitted and that professional teams be allowed to play against amateurs.

Among other resolutions are these:

By the Alberta branch—"An athlete shall not lose his amateur status by competing with or against a professional in cricket, golf, indoor bowling, horseshoe pitching, quoits, archery or soccer football. Any governing body of team sport may, if it so desires, permit players unable to secure amateur cards (through professional activities in another line of sports) to play on teams of properly registered amateurs, under amateur regulations."

By the Saskatchewan branch—"That the rule permitting a professional to apply for an amateur card after being inactive three years be altered so that only one year of inactivity is sufficient."

By the Alberta branch—"That a rule permitting an amateur team to play not more than three times during a season against professional teams be altered so no limit to the number of games is established."

By Thunder Bay branch—"That the A.A.U. of C. approach the Dominion and provincial governments with a view of securing subsidization of the Olympic committee is asked by the Central Ontario and Eastern Ontario branches, and this subject will be talked over before the Regina convention starts November 19."

Chairman P. J. Mulqueen of the Olympic committee has invited officials of the Central Ontario branch to meet with the committee here Saturday night and go over complaints voiced at the branch's meeting recently.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

THE FORGOTTEN MASTERPIECE

Racked with pain as he lay tossing on a sick bed in 1818, suffering from severe stomach trouble, Sir Walter Scott begged to be allowed to rise and continue his writing.

Opiates were administered by his physicians in an attempt to quiet their patient's burning ambition, and to relieve his terrific physical agony, but to little avail. Scott insisted on continuing his work. Finally in desperation the doctors summoned two of the author's close friends, William Laidlaw and John Ballantyne. The two men pacified Scott by agreeing to take his dictation while he lay abed.

Between groans of agony Sir Walter poured out his immortal story, the "Bride of Lammermore," stopping only when his pain was too great for him to speak or when he sank back in moments of lethargy, his great mind dulled by the influence of the drugs he had been given.

Strange as it seems, when the story was completed Scott forgot entirely ever having written it. In the words of Ballantyne: "The 'Bride of Lammermore' was not only written, but published before Scott was able to rise from his bed; and he assured me that when it was first put in his hands in complete shape (1819), he did not recollect one single incident, character, or conversation it contained, and he had been acquainted with the incidents of the story since his boyhood."

ALL-POINT SCORER

Rated as an all-coast halfback in 1935, Byron Haines was the "goat" and "hero" of his team in their game against University of Southern California, December 7.

Receiving the opening kick-off on his own one-yard stripe, Haines ran behind his goal line where he was thrown by a Trojan to score two points for U.S.C.

In the second quarter, Haines took the ball—this time for a twenty-five-yard dash to a touchdown, making the score 6 to 2 in favor of the Washington Huskies. The game ended at that score—Haines having made all the points for both sides!

Tomorrow—The Three-section ship.

Two More Upsets In Ring Battles

Underdogs Continue to Spring Surprises in Leading Bouts; Eddie Risko Decisions Harry Balsamo Latest Middleweight Sensation; Eddie Cool Whips Ambers

New York, Oct. 29.—From the way things have been going since Max Schmeling upset Joe Louis, this seems to be the year for experience to spring the fight game's surprise package by showing up younger favorites.

Nearly as startling as the German's knockout of Louis last summer, were a pair of triumphs by Eddie (Babe) Risko, the former middleweight champion, and Eddie Cool, veteran Philadelphia lightweight, last night.

Cool outpointed the new lightweight king, Lou Ambers, in Philadelphia, in a ten-round non-title affair—Ambers's first start since winning the title from Tony Canzoneri.

Risko, on the short end of 2 to 1 odds before the fight, punched out a clean cut ten-round win over Harry Balsamo, the middleweight knockout sensation in New York, chalking up the first loss for Balsamo since he brought his kayo punch out of the subway and turned to pro fighting more than a year ago.

Risko's victory changed the 150-pound picture completely. As a result, the former champion from Syracuse advanced to the number one position on the list of contenders for the title he lost to Freddie Steele several months ago.

Balsamo, on the other hand, fell some distance from the high place to which his recent string of knockout triumphs had boosted him.

MACK GARNER PASSES AWAY

Famous United States Jockey Dies Following Heart Attack

Covington, Ky., Oct. 29.—Mack Garner, for years one of the best-known jockeys on the American turf, died late last night following a heart attack.

Garner, one of four brothers, all of whom won acclaim as jockeys, rode four mounts yesterday at River Downs, formerly Coney Island, and won the first race aboard Slant Eye.

He was astride Cavalcade when that horse won the Kentucky Derby in 1934; won the Latonia Derby with Brother Batch in 1921, and captured the rich Belmont Stakes aboard Blue Larkspur in 1929.

Garner had been a jockey for twenty years.

Member of his family, with whom he resided here, said he complained of being ill when he returned from the River Downs track late yesterday.

TOWNSEND IN RING DEFEAT

Former Canadian Welter Champion Drops Decision to Billy Lee

Vancouver, Oct. 29. — Billy Townsend, one-time king of the Canadian welterweight division, today decided the comeback trail might be a little tougher than he anticipated after dropping a split decision to Billy Lee, Indian Battler of Reno, Nev.

Lightning-like left jabs and an occasional thudding two-fisted body attack slowed up the blond dynamiter and he was credited with the edge in only four of the ten rounds. Lee was given five and one was even.

Townsend weighed 137½ and Lee 143.

Only once did Townsend get into real difficulty, however. That was during the fifth when Lee backed him against the ropes under a rain of punches before Billy managed to get clear.

The final three minutes was filled with action as both tried for a knockout. Lee had the better of the exchange, however, and made up the points which gave him the nod.

"Whenever I set out, my collar open, my pack on my back, my pipe in my mouth, my hair uncovered to the breeze, Dame Nature smiles."

Hudson's Bay in Top Soccer Spot

Defeat James Bay Wanderers 6 to 0 to Move Ahead in Wednesday League Campaign; Spencers and Victoria Longshoremen Register Victories

Hudson's Bay, present holders of the Hayward Cup, were leading the current season's race for possession of the silverware today, after administering a 6 to 0 defeat to the James Bay Wanderers, cellar squad, yesterday afternoon in the first half of a double-header midweek football card staged at the Athletic Park.

Spencer's jumped into a two-way tie with the Navy for second place as a result of their win over the Garrison 4 to 1 in the second game at the enclosure.

The third game saw the Navy suffer its first defeat of the season, when they lost to the Victoria Longshoremen 3 to 2 in a hard-fought tussle on the Admirals Road grounds.

SPENCERS WIN

With the score reading 1 to 1 at the interval, Spencers ran through a wide-open defence on three occasions in the last canto and scored as many markers, while their opponents went scoreless.

The first session saw a pair of evenly-matched teams doing duty on the field, with a verdict for the soccer quality being fairly good. The final stanza, however, produced a far different story for following Roy Whittle's pair of successive goals, the soldiers went to pieces.

As the whistle sounded for the opening of play, Spencers took the ball at their feet and surged into their opponents' area, where they kept things pretty warm for a while, but failed to mark up a score. The soldiers finally cleared up the situation in front of their goal, and took the leather to the other end of the field. Here, however, they encountered goalie Stewartson, who very neatly handled all that came his way. When the diamond 8 departmentals finally secured possession of the ball they took it through on a strong forward rush to score. Wally Stewart, on the left wing, was responsible. His drive at the Garrison goal beat goalie Glendenning easily.

The Work Point lads evened matters up about ten minutes before the close of the half, when Edwards, inside left, piled a penalty kick into the net's centre. The free kick was caused when Nicol, left back for Spencers, fouled Wilkinson. Play periodically swayed from one end of the field to the other throughout the half.

A fine combination play between Wally Stewart and Roy Whittle five minutes after play had resumed, saw the latter sag the hemp with a solid drive that gave the departmentals a 2 to 1 lead. Play for the next few minutes saw the soldiers fighting hard for the tying goal. They were driven off however, before they attained their objective.

Spencers kept the ball in the opposing territory for the next fifteen minutes, where they were finally rewarded. Whittle came into the spotlight again, and accounted for his second tally of the skirmish. Moir crossed to Whittle, who lashed out a grounder at Glenndenning. The goalie failed to grab it. The ball hit the upright and rolled into the net.

Following this the Work Point squad seemed to wilt before the aggressive departmentals, and it was not long after the previous score that Spencers raised their total another notch. Speller took the ball halfway down the field on a solo flight, got into difficulties, crossed to "Shorty" Collins, on the right wing, who in turn passed to Stewart. Stewart's shot caught the goalie flat-footed.

Dave McMillan refereed.

The teams follow:

BAYS VICTORS

Led by the redoubtable centre-forward, Bob Preston, the Hudson's Bay eleven swept through the James Bay Wanderers to the tune of 6 to 0, in a one-sided fixture, that opened the two-game card at the enclosure. Preston displayed his ball-kicking ability by romping through for a quartette of goals and making the openings for the other pair.

Duncan, Bays right wing, took the rebound off the goalkeeper, caused by Preston's hot drive, and scored, ten minutes from the start of play. Keeping up the pressure the gold and green-sweatered departmentals had the scoreboard read 2 to 0 some minutes later. This also resulted from a rebound off the goalie on a

Hockey Gossip

Any fears manager Tommy Gorman had that Bob Gracie's frail frame would not stand the rigors of National Hockey League competition this winter have vanished. The lightning-fast centre of Maroons third-string front line was in rare form at Saint John, N.B., last night to figure in two of three goals as the Red Shirts trimmed Boston 3 to 1.

* * *

A player a day keeps trouble away, thinks manager Lester Patrick of New York Rangers, so each day he brings up a player from his farm team, Philadelphia Ramblers, for practice. To date Clint Smith, drafted from Vancouver Lions, seems to stand out among the trial horses. The former Saskatoon junior led the Northwestern League scorers last winter.

* * *

Patrick announced he has not considered the veteran defence man Ching Johnson in his plans for the campaign. "We can not consider Johnson until he signs his special contract, making him an assistant defence coach," said the Silver Fox.

* * *

Pembroke's one-man hockey team, Roy Geisbrecht, will not make the grade this year, but ultimately he appears headed for a place in the N.H.L. spotlight. Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings is enthused over the lumber king's junior star. "Wait till we smooth out a few rough spots—then watch that boy go," said the champion's mentor.

* * *

If anybody had mentioned Wings might replace Norm Smith in goal around playoff time last year, he would have rated admission to the nearest nut college. Probabilities are he will share puck-stopping honors with Earl Robertson, Windsor Bulldogs' net-minder last winter. Earl will start in goal against Leafs in an exhibition game in Windsor Friday.

* * *

As Maroons come to the home-stretch of pre-season activities, hopes of Ken Grivel making the grade are rapidly fading. The Toronto Mercantile League star has fallen slightly short of the mark. But like Syd Craddock, husky defenceman from Moose Jaw, Sask., Grivel will be closely watched by Maroons this winter.

* * *

Of the amateur troupe still hanging on with the Montreal club, Johnny Wing, Queen's University all-round athletic star, and Lloyd Ferras, hard-working young goalie from Kenora, Ont., are the only ones likely to be offered professional contracts.

* * *

With such sterling net-minders as Lorne Chabot and Bill Beveridge not just sure where they are at as far as jobs are concerned, it seems a risky business for young amateurs to jump into the monied ranks unless they have mighty good offers. All clubs appear over-stocked with first-class custodians at the moment.

In an exhibition game tonight Cecil Hart leads his Montreal Canadiens into Ottawa to engage Springfield Indians.

WALLACE WINS BY DECISION

Powell River, Oct. 29.—Gordon Wallace, Canadian welterweight champion of Vancouver, battled his way to a unanimous ten-round decision over Bobby Wood, Powell River, in the main bout of a fight card here last night.

Wallace weighed 142 and Wood 144. The Canadian welter champ took six of the rounds by wide margins and lost two on low blows. Wood took one and the other round was called a draw.

Wood carried the fight to the champ in the early rounds but had trouble in breaking through Wallace's guard and was forced to repeatedly clinch to save himself.

OUTCLASSED WOOD

Wallace forced matters after the third round and used his experience and ability to advantage on the game but outclassed Wood.

The Vancouver battler rushed his opponent and scored repeatedly with hard hooks to the head in the seventh and eighth rounds but could not administer a knockout punch.

Lester Patrick Will Introduce New System With Rangers

New York Outfit Most Unorthodox In Major Hockey

Veteran Manager Tells of Plans For Coming Campaign in N.H.L.

Lauds Play Of Alec Shibicki

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—Lester Patrick, "silver fox" of the National Hockey League, is all set to pull a bag of tricks in competition this winter. His rebuilt New York Rangers will be one of the most unorthodox playing squads ever to perform in the upper strata of hockey, he said yesterday after a pre-season workout.

"When Rangers take off on their flight to a play-off berth in the N.H.L., we hope to keep the opposition on the jump.

"We will toss into the fray a left-handed forward line, then a right-handed one; switch our defence around in the same manner, and attempt to work my unorthodox theories as in baseball. You have heard of a team using two pitchers, one a southpaw and the other a right-handed hurler, to throw opponents off their attack.

"Throughout my hockey career I have been convinced theories were not always what they were cracked up to be. I want to be in a position where I can say to any player: 'Go in there and play defence, centre, right wing or left wing,' and know he can do it in a polished manners.

PLAY ANYWHERE

"I feel a good player can be taught to fit in anywhere. That is just what I did with Cecil Dillon.

"When Dillon came to Rangers he was a left-handed winger, but we needed a right-wing man. So we made Dillon one. Today Dillon is a left-handed, right winger and one of the best lane patrollers in the league.

"Bill Cook, you know, can play any position in hockey. This year he may be used either on defence or any of the three spots on the forward wall, depending on circumstances.

"Our 1936-37 campaign will feature two lines in which every member stick-handles either left or right. Our kid line—Neil Colville, Mac Colville and Alec Shibicki—are right handers; our Dillon, Frankie Boucher, Lynn Patrick line is left, and on defence three of our men are rights.

"We wanted Shibicki for left wing, and he came to us as a right winger. Today he has found his groove on the left lane, and I believe he will be one of the N.H.L. greats."

DOMINOES SCORE ONE-SIDED VICTORY IN BASKETBALL OPENER

who partnered Chuck Chapman at guard, turned in a good game. He also scored four useful points. For the Capitals Andrews worked hard but did not receive the support he was used to last season. Martin tried hard to hold down Art Chapman but found the job plenty tough. Goldsmith scored some pretty baskets. The big weakness of the club appeared in their defence. However, with more games under their belts the Capitals should show considerable improvement.

In the preliminary games Gainers' Superiors defeated the Cardinals, 34 to 28, in a women's encounter and the Liberty Cafe trounced Jennings Florists, 39 to 13, in the men's senior B section.

Dominoes—R. Taylor 10, A. Webster 3, H. Rowe 5, A. Chapman 11, K. Noakes, C. Chapman 5, C. Coates 4, and B. Davies 6. Total 44.

Capitals—G. Andrews 4, O. Goldsmith 9, H. McLean 1, A. Martin 5, R. Shepperd 3, A. McKeachie and I. McKeachie. Total 22.

Gainers' Superiors—M. Peden 8, M. Purdy, L. Sparks 11, E. Peden 9, B. Elston 6, E. Trotter 1, R. Bethel. Total 34.

Cardinals — V. Hannan 14, D. O'Connor 4, E. Elston, P. Blackmore 6, V. Hall 4, B. Crosby and J. Trotter. Total 28.

Reaping Reward Registers Upset

Pawtucket, R.I., Oct. 29.—Reaping Reward, two-year-old colt from Mrs. Ethel Marr's Milky Way Farm, registered an upset victory by defeating Jerome M. Lougheim's Pompoon, the champion of the juveniles, by a half length in the first running of the rich New England Futurity at Narragansett Park yesterday.

Shuttle Entries Close Tonight

Badminton clubs in the Lower Island Badminton League wishing to play in any of the five divisions of the loop should send their applications in to F. A. Jackson, secretary, 1333 Fort Street, by 6 o'clock tonight, as entries will close at that time.

TEAMS STILL IN DEADLOCK

Dominion Life and Cellumaniacs Continue as Table Tennis Leaders

At almost the halfway mark in this year's league play the best team in the first division is still a question mark, and Dominion Life Assurance Company and Cellumaniacs continue tied for top place.

This week's matches saw little change in the league standing, with the two leaders quashing all opposition.

The Cellumaniacs had the toughest assignment with the Melrose Paint four across the table, but they broke through and defeated the former champions 10 to 6. Greenwood, who has been playing an excellent game this season, came through with a shutout.

The Chinese team of Chun Lee Sons put up a good struggle against the powerful insurance squad. Hy Lowe took three, while his brothers divided the rest of the points. Morrison a newcomer, ticked off four games of the Dominion Life's ten.

RED WINGS WIN

Wild Cats drew with the new Mount Douglas team, while Red Wings played at top form to turn back the Royal Arcanum, 9 to 7.

In the second division a new team from the Victoria High School gained immediate notice by beating the Royal Arcanum No. 2 team easily, 13 to 3.

The complete results of this week's matches and the players and games won follow:

FIRST DIVISION

Victoria High Golds Winners

The Victoria High School Golds snowed under the Oak Bays, 19 to 4, in a Victoria-Oak Bay High School Rugby League game played yesterday afternoon on the Fernwood grounds.

In the first half D. Bray, G. Milne and C. Lucas scored trys for the Golds and R. Cosier converted one. In the second half Fred Smith scored two trys for the Golds, one of which Cosier converted.

Preston boosted his team's score another notch at the twenty-five-minute mark, when he went through and scored on an individual effort. He got another goal about three minutes before the rest period.

The James Bay squad managed to sally down the field occasionally, but their drives were weak and the Bays' defence men and goalie Joe Travis had little trouble in clearing.

Jimmy Oakman's perfect corner kick was headed in past Goalie Charlie Sadler, to make the count read 5 to 0. This occurred after seventeen minutes of the second half had expired. Following the resultant kick-off, the Bays again pushed and Oakman's cross was received by none other than the shifty pivot man, who registered.

It was Preston's fourth goal and the final counter for his team. The Hudson's Bay club did not press heavily in this half, being content with looking after their own goal and thwarting their opponents in their scoring attempts.

Al McKinnon refereed.

NARROW VICTORY

It was only by an eyelash that the Victoria Longshoremen managed to finish their tussle with the Navy on the long end of a 3 to 2 score. The freight haulers at the interval were holding down a one-goal lead and then scored up goal for goal with their opponents in the final canto.

Scoring opportunities were not used to advantage by the Navy squad when the forward line engineered attacks on their opponents' goal as play opened. When the Longshoremen finally did break away they finished their offensive with a goal, Alexander beating Goalie Mundie with a fast drive.

For some time following the goal, play centred around the middle of the field, with both teams fighting hard. It was toward the end of this session that the sailors were awarded a free kick and Wilf De Costa just missed scoring by heading the ball past the uprights.

The Navy equalized soon after the final half opened, when McLean, shifty forward, scored. The Navy kept up their offensive tactics, but a sudden breakaway resulted in Earl Barnswell scoring to put the Longshoremen in the lead. They increased their score another notch soon after, Harry Holness came in fast from the wing and beat Mundie with a swift one.

Showing plenty of fighting spirit, the Navy really began to function at this time and it was not long before they registered to cut their deficit to one goal. The marker was accounted for by De Costa, who found the net from Brown's cross. The Navy had a chance for the tying tally on a penalty kick which resulted when Cockrill was fouled. Bruce Robinson, however, hit the crossbar.

World's Their Golf Course

BILLY ARNOLD HATED RACING

Famous Automobile Racing Driver Has No Seen Race Since He Quit Sport

Los Angeles, Oct. 29.—Curly-haired, likeable Billy Arnold hated the sport that made him rich and famous — automobile racing.

Winner of the 1930 500-mile speed classic at Indianapolis, survivor of a thousand and one dangers, and acclaimed one of the best pilots in the history of the sport, it seemed strange to hear Arnold say today:

"If there was one thing I hated when I was racing, it was racing."

Strange, too, when he added:

"I haven't even seen an automobile race since I quit on Labor Day, 1932. That includes Indianapolis. When I quit, I quit."

Fred Perry Still Is Question Mark

Future of Professional Tennis Depends on Decision of British Star; Refuses to Commit Himself on Plans; Mike Jacobs Makes Offer

New York, Oct. 29.—Whether there will be a profitable organized tour of tennis professionals this winter depends on Fred Perry—and he does not know.

Bill O'Brien, the former rub-down expert, who put the pro game on a paying basis, will wash his hands of the sport unless Perry accepts a two-year-old flat offer of $50,000.

"The game needs someone who can stand across the net and give Ellsworth Vines a batttle," declared O'Brien, who said he lost around $22,000 exploiting last year's troupe, "and Perry's the man. I'm through making overtures to him. He's got to come to me now."

Perry stirred up a great deal of speculation in 1934 when he first received O'Brien's offer. It was a tempting opportunity to turn his amateur glory into gold. One day he thought he would accept, the next day he was sure he wouldn't. "The whole thing was terribly botched up," said Perry. "I suppose I contributed to the messy state of affairs. My friends and advisers were divided on my taking the professional step, so I didn't know what to do and, consequently nothing was done."

JACOBS INTERESTED

O'Brien isn't the only promoter in the field for Perry's services. The latest is Mike Jacobs, who entered the bidding yesterday. Mike announced he would split $15,000 between Perry and Vines in the Hippodrome.

"That's all very interesting," Perry remarked, "and quite tempting for one exhibition, but the hitch in the thing is that 'Ely' is in Tokio and probably won't return for some time.

"I honestly and frankly can't say what I am going to do. As a matter of fact, the entire matter is out of my hands."

"I'm sorry, but I can't say," he replied. "You see, as I said before, the question of my future was botched up previously. This time I'm going to be discreet about it. I probably shall make a definite decision, one way of the other, by the end of the year. In fact, I will have to."

If Perry turns pro, and there are many who believe he will because there's little left for him to conquer since he has won the American and All-England titles three times in the last four years, it will deal a terrific blow to England's hold on the Davis Cup.

O'Brien, now promoting professional boxing and wrestling in New York's suburbs, has broken off with William ("Big Bill") Tilden and no longer has Vines under contract. He doesn't intend to reopen negotiations with them unless Perry capitulates.

TOR JOHNSON TO SHOW HERE

Will Tackle Pat Fraley in Main Event of Wrestling Card Saturday

Ranked close to the top of the heavyweight heap, Fraley should make a capable opponent. Fraley will be tackling a man with more than a 100-pound weight advantage, but his added speed should offset this.

MORE ATTEND WINTER FAIR

Visitors Increase 30 Per Cent, Management States; Prize-winners Named

Attendance at the second annual winter fair jumped 30 per cent yesterday evening, as crowds viewed the attractive display of merchandise and home products and used stage money on the Midway.

Greater crowds are expected this evening, tomorrow and Saturday. The fair runs daily from 2 o'clock to midnight, at the Armories.

Frank Leach, George Jay School, is the winner of the school children's ticket-selling competition, T. H. Eslick, secretary of the Tourist Trade Development Association, announces. Others who will share in the prizes, including bicycles and other sporting goods, are Violet Stanley, St. Ann's Academy; Geoffrey Neville, Tillicum School; Walter Reid, Victoria High School; Robert Johnston, Peggy Johnston and Joseph Bryant, Tillicum School; Ernest Wellwood, Oaklands School; Kenneth Hunt, Langford, and Norma Stacey, Marigold.

Prizes will be awarded Saturday evening.

Mrs. M. A. Foulds of the B.C. Electric Home Service Department demonstrated the cooking of loin chops, grilled with kidney sauce, vegetables, lemon pie and Maderia cake yesterday afternoon. This afternoon the lesson includes roast sirloin of beef, tarts, and ginger puffs.

Dressed in white sailor costumes, the baby sextette from the Show Boat gave a song and dance number entitled "Sons of the Sea" yesterday evening. The small girls, in charge of Mrs. C. W. Holden, emerged from a cardboard model of a cruiser.

Mrs. Florence Noel sang several songs and Miss Matie Griffin and Vernon Miller, dancers, supported the sextette. A number built around the song "Caroline" was given as an encore.

The girls in the sextette were: Kathleen Schofield, Barbara Wilson, Ethel Stickney, Mavis Ockenden, Gloria Holden and Evelyn McLaren. They will appear this evening at 7.30 o'clock in "Waltz in Vienna" and "Cod Fish Ball."

Pierrot and Pierrette, the Cowboy and Indian duo, and Curley's Harmonious Harvesters will also be on the programme again this afternoon and evening.

Door-prizes were awarded to the following at the drawing at 10.45 o'clock yesterday evening:

Mrs. J. T. Brown, Langford; Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Craze, 1290 Holloway Street; E. Rowland, Colquitz; D. Hopkins, 2218 Quadra Street; Mrs. W. Neuham, Parsons Bridge; Miss P. Failes, 321 Mary Street; M. Menzies, 979 Inverness Street; J. T. Henley, 1529 Dallas Road, and B. T. Bertucci, 1277 Denman Street.

EAST INDIAN CASE BEGINS

Court Case Arises Out of Sikh Temple Disturbance

The hearing of an assault charge against Hajara Singh and Kartar Singh, East Indians, who are alleged to have attacked a fellow countrymen, Bara Singh, during a disturbance at the Sikh Temple, opened in the City Police Court this morning.

The case was remanded until this afternoon at 3 o'clock after some of the thirty-five witnesses to be called had been heard this morning.

A counter charge against Bara, of using insulting language has been laid by the defence in the assault case while officials of the Sikh Temple have charged him with disturbing a religious service. Gordon Cameron is appearing for the temple committee.

Bara's refusal to accept sacred food distributed at the temple is alleged to have been the cause of the trouble. The prosecution further alleges that when he was ordered out of the temple he stood up and called out insulting language.

ANNIVERSARY ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Associated Press

New York, Oct. 29.—Today marked the seventh anniversary of the most tumultuous crack in the history of the New York Stock Exchange when an unprecedented total of 16,410,030 shares changed hands at sharply lower prices.

Conspicuous losses that day, which heralded spectacularly the start of the world-wide depression, were: American Telephone, $28 a share; Santa Fe, $17, General Electric, $28; and U.S. Steel, $12.

Trading today found activity limited. Observers said the trading of the entire list might not exceed greatly the sales of General Motors alone on Oct. 29, 1929, when more than 970,000 General Motors shares were sold.

"I'm a son of the soil!" shouted the grimy park orator.

"I'm sorry for you," said a man in the audience, "for I see you have your father on your hands."

CITY BY-LAW IS SUSTAINED

Judge A. M. Harper Upholds Validity of Ruling on Soliciting

Validity of the city's by-law prohibiting soliciting by sightseeing company representatives in and around the harbor and other public places in the city was upheld by Judge A. M. Harper, Vancouver, in a judgment handed down in County Court today.

The appeal was in the nature of a test case. Several other charges of a similar nature are faced by other agents of sightseeing companies. They will proceed before the police magistrate, C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, stated following judgment today.

APPELLANT'S CASE

In his judgment today Judge Harper said counsel for the appellant had admitted his client had solicited business from a boat in the harbor. Grounds for the appeal had been that the city was acting beyond its power in the by-law, the judge remarked.

Turning his attention to the validity of Subsection 2 of Section 74 of the city Street Traffic By-law, which bans soliciting, the judge cited the defence submitted by the Crown.

The Crown, he said, had cited Subsection 132 of Section 54 of the Municipal Act, which gave the city jurisdiction to enforce a ban against noisy solicitation in various parts of the city, including "public places."

Other sections of the Municipal Act, he said, gave guidance as to what power the city had to prevent shouting "at such places within the municipality as shall be provided by by-law."

POWER GIVEN CITY

"It is evident from the perusal of this subsection (Subsection 156, Section 54, of the Municipal Act) that it was the intention of the Legislature to delegate to the municipality absolute and unfettered discretion to designate such places within the limits of the city of Victoria where any 'shouting, calling or creating any noise deemed undesirable,' should not take place. In other words, the municipality is given statutory power in its judgment to name such places by by-law," the judge held.

"The language used is broad and comprehensive and makes a complete answer to the charge that municipal jurisdiction has been exercised in excess of the statutory delegation," he continued. "As express legislative authority has been given, it is not for the courts to interfere.

"The appeal is dismissed, but as this is a test case, I think it should be without costs," he concluded.

Chrysanthemum Show Results

Judging Is Completed at Japanese Exhibition on Blanshard Street

A great deal of interest is being shown in the first exhibition of chrysanthemums staged by Japanese amateur gardeners of this city at the old St. Ann's kindergarten on the corner of View and Blanshard Streets.

Many people saw the beautiful blooms yesterday and others will have the opportunity of seeing them this afternoon and this evening, and every afternoon and evening this week, as the flowers are on display until Saturday.

First prizes in the various classes with the number awarded to each—G. Ishiguro 8, E. Kuzume 7, N. Watanabe 3, K. Takahashi 3, and H. Takata, J. Doi, C. Sonoda, S. Henmi and B. Kuwabara, 1 each.

Second prizes—E. Kuzume 10, N. Watanabe and C. Sonoda 4 each, G. Ishiguro 2 and J. Doi and K. Ise 1 each.

Third prizes — E. Kuzume 8, S. Okamoto, K. Ise and K. Takahashi 2 each, M. Kawasoe, C. Sonoda, N. Watanabe and B. Kuwabara 1 each.

The Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion will stage a concert tomorrow evening in the clubrooms, 715 View Street. An invitation has been extended to all thirty-eight children, who participated in the recent essay competition sponsored by the branch on "My Observations of Titania's Palace," to attend the interesting and varied programme that has been arranged. The presentation of prizes to the winners will take place during the intermission. The programme follows: Miss Elsie Friend, piano solo; Mrs. M. Carver, song (selected); Stanley James, humorous song; Miss Phyllis Holmes, song (selected); Cecil Heaton, musical novelties; Douglas Park, song (selected); W. Farmer, song and sketch; Rev. E. F. Church, humorous talk; J. Gow, magic; Miss Morris, xylophone solo; T. Obee and S. James, comic duet, and Miss Matie Griffin, acrobatic dance. Miss Friend will act as accompanist.

EILBECK WILSON

My Boyhood Ambition

Train Driver

EILBECK WILSON

"The thunder of a passing locomotive and the crash of falling trees, always appealed to me as a lad and I made up my mind to be either a train driver or a faller in a logging camp," says Eilbeck Wilson, well-known local sportsman.

When he was eighteen years of age, Eilbeck secured his first job working as a human packhorse on a timber cruising party on the mainland, which netted him $90 per month. This also constituted his first earnings as a youth.

"To gain additional experience I then entered the lumber camps," says Mr. Wilson. "Just as I was getting well-situated along this line, everything went haywire. I had returned to Victoria one winter on a holiday, where I joined the ranks of the Canadian Scottish rugby team. While in action one day on the field I injured my shoulder on the hard ground, which necessitated an operation and twenty-five stitches."

With his arm in bad shape for many months Eilbeck was unable to continue on his chosen career as a timberman. In order to get his arm back in shape he decided to take up professional fishing on the west coast, where the rigorous work of hauling in lines restored the use of his shoulder. By this time he had lost most of his love for a lumber camp and seeing good prospects in the fishing and hunting goods business, he opened a store in this city and has been with it ever since.

Mr. Wilson was born and raised in Victoria and has always had the interests of sportsmen at heart, being a strong worker for conservation of fish and game, and says if he had his life to live over again he is sure he would take up the business in which he is now engaged.

Notes of the Legislature

TOMORROW

Opening debate will continue; probable speakers, Byron Johnson, Liberal, Victoria; C. M. F. Planta, Independent, Peace River; E. E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby; Hugh Savage, Independent, Cowichan-Newcastle.

By attending this month his twenty-first session of the British Columbia Parliament, Premier Pattullo has "become of age" as a legislator. His record is rather unique in that he has attended sixteen sessions of a minister of the crown and the other five as Leader of the Opposition since he first took office in 1917. In point of attendance at sessions he is exceeded only by R. H. Pooley, K.C., Esquimalt, who has been in the House since before the war, but for only one term in cabinet rank.

Ernest Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, is the first member to put questions on the order paper. He has questions about diking lands, industrial accidents and social diseases to be asked Friday.

Mr. Winch also has given notice of amendments, to the Game Act and the Marriage Act for introduction next Wednesday. In his proposed change to the game act he would prohibit the use of steel traps or any traps that cause pain to animals. For the Marriage Act he proposes a regulation that all candidates for marital union should undergo medical examination first.

The final date for receiving petitions for private bills has been fixed as November 5.

Ex-Newfoundland Governor Passes

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Sydney, Australia, Oct. 29.—Admiral Sir David Murray Anderson, Governor of Newfoundland from 1933 until spring of this year, died today. He was sixty-two.

He spent forty-three years in the British Navy, retiring in 1932. He served in a number of African expeditions in the last decade of the nineteenth century. He served through the Great War and at the operations resulting in the destruction of the German cruiser Koenigsberg off East Africa in 1915.

M. Biggar of Hudson Motors Sees From 25 to 35 Per Cent Business Pick-up

Murray A. Biggar, assistant general sales manager of the Hudson Motors Ltd., Tilbury, Ont., is at the Empress Hotel today in the course of a quick trip across the country to introduce the 1937 models to the sales organization.

Traveling with the sales manager are F. J. Green, service supervisor, Tilbury; Sidney Allen, regional manager for western Canada, Calgary; A. W. Carter and Harry Pilling of Vancouver.

Mr. Biggar and his party this morning called upon Robert J. Jameson of Jameson Motors Ltd., Vancouver Island distributors for Hudson and Terraplane cars.

"With the improvement in general business conditions in Canada the motor industry expects an increase in sales of at least 25 per cent over last year," said Mr. Biggar in reviewing statistical evidence to show that most branches of industry and commerce were on the upgrade.

"As for Hudson Motors, we are actually figuring on a 35 per cent increase over 1936," he said.

SIGNS GOOD

Mr. Biggar said he had noticed the business betterment signs all through the country.

"There are certain sections of the prairies where they are not so enthusiastic, but taking the Dominion as a whole the signs are distinctly encouraging," he said.

Referring to the newest models of Hudson and Terraplane cars, Mr. Biggar explained features such as selective automatic shift, extra width by five inches, which provides ample space for three people in both front and rear seats, inverted handles designed to prevent door accidents, increased leg and head room with the same road clearance, beautiful lines and colors, and engines which engineering tests have proved give 10 per cent more power with 10 per cent more fuel economy.

Mr. Biggar said the technicians accompanying him were giving complete technical information to servicing departments from the mechanical standpoint in introducing the latest models.

The party will leave tonight for the east.

Pleads Guilty On Four Charges

Two charges of obtaining money by worthless cheques, a third of forging a cheque, and a fourth of stealing a watch, were admitted before Magistrate Henry Hall in the City Police Court this morning. He was remanded until tomorrow for sentence at the request of the prosecution.

The first charge to which he pleaded guilty was one of obtaining $5 from Cecil Eve by presenting a cheque made out to himself purported to be signed by James M. Miller, local bandmaster.

Under similar circumstances he secured $2.14 in cash and goods worth $2.80 from W. A. Buckle.

The third charge was that of forging the name of James M. Miller to a cheque for $5.

The theft count involved a watch valued at more than $25, which he took from F. W. Francis, jeweler, on approval and which he is alleged to have pawned.

New Oil Wharf Opened Today

The new $25,000 plant of the Standard Oil Company of British Columbia, on the Industrial Reserve, near the Johnson Street bridge, was opened for business this morning, with the pumping into the tanks there of 80,000 gallons of gasoline.

F. C. E. Roome, local manager for the company, and B. Andres, service station superintendent of Vancouver looked after the arrangements.

The first gasoline was brought to Victoria on the company's barge S.O.B.B. No. 3 and was towed from Stanovan, near Vancouver, by the Victoria Tug Company's tugboat Strath.

The new dock is about 250 feet in length and is thoroughly equipped. It has a modern marine service station, in addition to office buildings and a warehouse, fifty by forty feet.

Motor Dealers Visitors Here

A. W. Carter, former resident of Victoria and now British Columbia distributor for Hudson Motors of Canada Limited, with headquarters at Vancouver, came to Victoria today with a party of company officials from eastern Canada.

In the group were Murray Bigger, sales manager from headquarters at Tilbury, Ont.; Sidney Allen, western divisional manager, with territory from Fort William to the Pacific Coast, and J. F. Greenfield, service supervisor from Tilbury.

The new 1937 models of Hudson Terraplane are now on view in the showrooms of the Jameson Motors Limited, local dealers. They are larger, with more head room, leg room and have wider bodies than last year's models.

Theft of a purse containing $18 from the home of Mrs. J. Pears, 856 Cormorant Street, yesterday afternoon, was reported to the city police. The theft occurred while Mrs. Pears and a friend were upstairs.

To Get Data On Jobless Veterans

For the purpose of making certain that Victoria ex-servicemen are made acquainted with the aims of the Veterans' Assistance Commission, Robert Macnicol, newly-elected member of the commission, will visit the city in the near future.

He is now in the interior, meeting veterans' associations at Fernie, Nelson, Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon and Kamloops. Mr. Macnicol will, on his return to the coast, visit the Island with two other members of the commission. The itinerary calls for sittings in Victoria and Vancouver. They will commence in Vancouver about November 12.

In order to secure a correct estimate of the number of unemployed veterans, the commission desires, according to Mr. Macnicol, that information submitted to it, through questionaire forms, be as full as possible. If ex-servicemen fail to submit forms at an early date, the work of the commission will be hindered, it was intimated. Personal information will be treated confidentially.

Flag Presented To Girl Guides

Gordon Head Hall was the scene of a very pretty ceremony, October 21, when a Union Jack and staff was presented to the Girl Guide company by the president of the Current Events Club, on behalf of the members. During the afternoon tea was served and Mrs. Gale, divisional commissioner, gave a talk on girl guiding and the work of the local association. Lady Colville, district commissioner, took charge of the flag ceremony. Mrs. McNaughton made the presentation, stressing the interest her members had in the Girl Guides of Gordon Head. The flag was received by Betty Dawson, flag-bearer, and her escorts, Irene Edwards and Betty Walker. After the ceremony carnations were presented to Mrs. McNaughton, Mrs. Gale and Lady Colville by Florence Edward, Mary Carmen and Maude Renoufe on behalf of the Girl Guides company.

Packing Plant Workers Strike

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Oct. 29.—Seeking union recognition, more than 100 employees of Gainers Limited packing plant went on strike here today. Victor Thompson, agent and secretary of the Edmonton Meat Packing and Purveying Local No. 1, affiliated with the All-Canadian Congress of Labor, said sixty out of 200 employees had refused to enter the plant. Pickets were posted.

Alex M. MacDonald, sales manager of Gainers, asserted "outside agitators are responsible. We had no warning of the strike. It is the first strike in the history of the plant."

No other packing plants in Edmonton were affected.

Making his first official visit to the Pacific Coast as Polish consul for Western Canada, M. Bielinski of Winnipeg, visited the city to pay his respects to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier Pattullo and Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald, as well as the United States Consul as head of the consular corps in Victoria. Mr. Bielinski announced that Brenton S. Brown of Vancouver had been appointed consul for Poland for British Columbia. There are 90,000 Poles in Western Canada. He expressed himself as impressed with the development of this province.

Don Cossacks On Extensive Tour

The Don Cossacks—the famous Russian male chorus—are back for another record season. They will sing sixty-seven engagements in seventy-four days before Christmas, and twenty-five engagements in thirty days immediately after the first of the year. This is a record not equalled by any organization before the public.

For those who have read Gogol's "Taras Bulba" or Pushkin's "The Captain's Daughter," or Tolstoi's "The Cossacks," the advent of the Don Cossacks will awaken a double interest.

Here one will see in the flesh the descendants of those famous warriors whose lusty exploits of battle and conquest run like a scarlet thread through the web and woof of Russian history.

SPY STORY AT THE ATLAS

"Secret Agent" and "It's Love Again" Opened Today

Madeleine Carrol is a young person of such tremendous energy and enthusiasm that, when she is working in a picture she is impatient to have time for the many activities her farm home demands of her, and when she is absent from the screen she is as anxious to get back.

Absent from the GB studio for five months between "The Thirty-nine Steps" and "Secret Agent," now showing at the Atlas Theatre, Madeleine gladdened director Alfred Hitchcock's heart by greeting him with "I've been screaming with impatience to get to work again!"

"Ladies in Love" To Open Friday

With the most brilliant and exciting combination of feminine personalities ever to appear in one picture—Janet Gaynor, Loretta Young, Constance Bennett and Simone Simon—supported by Don Ameche, Paul Lukas, Tyronne Power Jr., and Alan Mowbray, "Ladies in Love" will open at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

Famous Singer At The Oak Bay

Music-lovers the world over have been held in spell-bound admiration by Lily Pons in her first great picture, "I Dream Too Much," now showing at the Oak Bay Theatre. It was written especially to fit Miss Pons's brilliant talents as a singer and actress. Miss Pons combines two grand opera arias and four popular songs, composed especially for the picture by Jerome Kern. She sings "Caro Nome," from Verdi's "Rigoletto," and the "Bell Song," from "Lakme." "Jockey on the Carousel," "I Got Love," "I'm the Echo," and "I Dream Too Much" are also sung by the petite and lovely diva.

Shown also is a full-length sparkling comedy, "Personal Maid's Secret."

CAPITOL THEATRE

Residents of this city have only one day to see the magnificent spectacle dances by Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in their new musical hit, "Swing Time," at the Capitol Theatre. Produced by RKO-Radio, "Swing Time" introduces six Jerome Kern-Dorothy Fields numbers, among which are "Bojangles of Harlem," "The Waltz in Swing Time," "Never Gonna Dance" and "Pick Yourself Up."

Joan Blondell At The Plaza

At the First National studios an outstanding triumvirate is that formed by Joan Blondell, Cora Lobb, a wardrobe worker, and Ruth Pursley, hairdresser. The three are together constantly when Joan is making a picture.

In "Bullets or Ballots," Miss Blondell's current vehicle, which comes to the Plaza Theatre today, Mrs. Lobb and Miss Pursley were very much in evidence. They watched her appearance, listened to her while she was learning her lines, protected her from inquisitive visitors, and interfered when strangers insisted upon speaking with her.

Miss Blondell plays opposite Edward G. Robinson in "Bullets or Ballots," a startling story of racketeering written by Martin Mooney and Seton I. Miller. Others in the cast include Barton MacLane, Humphrey Bogart, Frank McHugh, Joseph King and Richard Purcell.

Also being shown on the same programme is Jan Kiepura in "My Song for You," with Aileen Marson.

Edmund Lowe Now At The Columbia

Sheriff Mundt was passing through Hollywood on his way to Texas from Oregon, where he picked up an escaped convict accused of second degree murder. Hearing that Lowe was "in production" at Universal Studios, the sheriff-fan took a day off to visit the Lowe set—keeping his prisoner in tow with a chain.

Specialties Reach New Highs In Active Trading On Wall St.

Associated Press

New York, Oct. 29.—Specialties tipped the scales substantially in the stock market's favor today, a number bounding forward one to five or more points to new five-year peaks.

A few alcohols, coppers, motors, utilities and rails tilted upward moderately. Buying inspiration was derived from a flood of bright earnings statement and generous dividends. Light dealings throughout put the turnover at around 1,550,000 shares.

The relative smallness of the volume was again attributed by brokers mainly to the disinclination of traders to expand commitments to any great extent pending the election.

Pittsburgh United Corp., opening above 6, broke more than 3 points when the company's directors notified preferred shareholders of their right to liquidate next March. The corporation's assets consist principally of U.S. Steel common stock.

Bonds followed stocks at a leisurely gait. Commodities were mixed, as were foreign currencies. Wheat at Chicago lost ½ to 1⅛ cents a bushel and corn was unchanged to down 1½.

Forty bonds—105.15, up 0.15.

LATE RALLY AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press

Montreal, Oct. 29.—A late spurt sent prices forward in today's stock market. Smelters held a two-point gain at 67½, while Nickel and Noranda gained ⅛ each.

Late demand boosted Canadian Hydro-Electric preferred around three points to 53⅛. Power Corporation gained a point at 17.

Canadian Car issues lost, but C.P.R. and National Steel Car were up ¾ each at 13¾ and 28¾, respectively.

Wheat Prices Lower On Winnipeg Market

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—Limited amounts of old wheat were offered for sale by Argentina today, with a detrimental effect on the price of Canada's major cereal. Values on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed 2½ to 2¼ cents lower, October at $1.09⅛, November $1.09¼, December $1.07 and May $1.07¾.

Prices at Liverpool closed 1⅝ to 2½d lower, the weakness spreading to other important world markets.

One bearish factor was a trade forecast that the exportable surplus from the present wheat crop in Argentina would be possibly 90,000,000 bushels more than from the last crop. Another weakening influence was that the Liverpool wheat market today showed in some cases three cents a bushel overnight tumble.

INDUSTRIALS RULE HIGHER

Canadian Press

Toronto, Oct. 29.—The trend was upward on the Toronto industrial section today and net gains outnumbered losses at the close.

C.P.R., a leading trader, registered a gain of more than half a point. Smelters advanced more than two points and the close was higher also for Ford A, Nickel, Imperial Oil, Walker's common, Canada Malting and the Brewing Corporation stocks. Brazilian registered a strong tone.

Eight stocks sold at new high prices, including the Steel of Canada issues, Canada Cement common and Shawinigan.

Canadian Dollar Gains at N.Y.

Canadian Press

New York, Oct. 29.—Major currencies ruled mildly irregular in relation to United States currency on the foreign exchange market today.

Canadian dollars were listed at 100 1-16 cents, a gain of 1-32 per cent, pound sterling held unchanged at $4.89, but French francs declined .00 7-16 cents to 4.65 1-16 cents.

London, Oct. 29.—Bar gold declined ½d to 142s 1½d. (Sterling price equivalent to $34.76.)

Minto Feature On Vancouver Market

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 29. — Feature trading shifted to Minto during morning dealings on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today, attracting a turnover of better than 15,000 shares to close a half cent higher at 21.

The market as a whole displayed firmer undertone, though trading remained dull. Total board transactions for the early period amounted to 91,000 shares.

Pioneer continued to trade with improved activity, but slipped back to $7 after selling Wednesday afternoon at $7.05. Bralorne remained about unchanged.

Premier turned easier, declining 3 cents in quieter trading. Relief Arlington, Wayside and Kootenay Belle held about unchanged.

Pend Oreille, in the base metals, proved about the bright spot in the list. This stock closed 5 cents higher at 90 after fairly active trading.

CANADIANS AND THEIR INDUSTRIES....AND THEIR BANK

FIRST IN CANADA'S INTERNATIONAL TRADE
· THE TOURIST INDUSTRY ·

A national asset worthy of the most intelligent cultivation is the tourist business, which brought $202,000,000 into Canada last year and is estimated to bring at least $250,000,000 this year. In our international trade its monetary value to Canada now ranks ahead of that of any of our exports, not excepting those important exportable commodities, wheat and newsprint.

But the tourist industry has potential values beyond its annual money income:

- it fosters exchange of ideas between neighbours, international understanding and co-operation, tolerance and goodwill;
- it accelerates betterment of railway, waterway and airway service, of motor roads and hotel accommodation;
- it awakens interest in Canadian products and opportunities for capital investment.

Through its offices abroad and more than 500 branches distributed throughout Canada, the Bank of Montreal is one of the leading factors in providing service for the tourist trade. Its offices abroad and in Canada are centres to which countless tourists turn for information and guidance. These offices not only extend financial hospitality which facilitates the exchange and transfer of money, but contribute in many other ways to make the visits of tourists comfortable, happy and profitable.

Thousands of customers of the Bank of Montreal do business with visitors from other countries—hotels, transportation lines, service stations, stores, et cetera—and they too find the kind of banking service they need in the Bank of Montreal.

"Canada has unexcelled railway and hotel facilities to attract tourists the whole year round, and year by year, as our automobile roads are improved and extended, more and more American cars will be seen in Canada.

"Railway and steamship lines, tourist agencies and newspapers have done a great deal towards cultivating this important trade in the general interest.

"Country hotels, boarding houses and tourists camps are coming to realize the necessity of improving accommodations and service.

"If tourists are given a warm welcome, are comfortably accommodated and treated courteously and fairly, their number will increase annually."

Tarzan And the Leopard Men

In his fall from the broken bough, Tarzan managed to land on his feet, holding The Kid firmly, thus saving both from injury or death. But hardly had he touched the ground when the Leopard Men leaped upon their victims with savage, triumphant shouts.

Despite the odds against him, the Jungle Lord whipped out his knife. He knew there was no chance of escape, but he would let them know that they had been in battle with the mighty Tarzan. The Kid, too, joined the fight with his fists, but they were soon overwhelmed.

Had the Leopard Men not been under strict orders to take the captives alive, the white giant and his comrade would have been struck down by the terrible Talons of Death; but they knew that Lulimi, the chieftain of their secret clan, had plans for a cannibal feast.

From a distant treetop Nkima looked down upon Tarzan's calamity and moaned: "They will kill him, and Nkima will be left alone in the jungle. Poor Nkima! Life is so hard for little monkeys!" Then Nkima saw the excited Leopard Men preparing to lead Tarzan away.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My friends call me a gold-digger and say that I demand too much of the boys who take me out. I think I demand only what I deserve. The boy I go out with must have a job and he must have a car. I can't enjoy myself entertaining one at home or walking to a movie or to some local entertainment. I want to go places and do things, and I think that the boy with whom I go out should come for me in a car, take me any place I care to go, spend money on me, show me a good time and be satisfied with my company. One of my girl friends says that if she likes a fellow she would even go dutch treat in order to go with him, but I say if a fellow cannot pay for everything he shouldn't make a date. I would not go out with him, no matter how nice he was. I always have a good time when I go out and get more out of a date than my friends do, just because I expect more. I am eighteen and I can't see anything wrong with my point of view.

UNCONVINCED.

Answer—There isn't anything wrong with your point of view, as the only thing that seems to matter to you is keeping your eye on the main chance. As long as you do that and are not swayed away from it by any such foolish side issues as sentiment or compassion, or understanding, or desire for some other thing that money doesn't buy, you'll continue to get what you want out of men.

Your technique is perfect, and it is as old as femininity itself. Women have always got from men just what they demanded of them. In every age the Gimme Sisters have always ridden in chaises and been clothed in satins and bedecked with jewels. If men have worked themselves to death, or robbed and murdered to get them what they wanted—well, that's another story and one in which the ladies were not greatly concerned. There were always other men whom they could hold up just as effectually with a pair of blue eyes as they could with a pair of blue-nosed revolvers.

So I am quite sure that as long as you won't go out with a boy who hasn't a good job and a car and who isn't a spender, you will always get more out of your dates in the way of high-priced amusement than your poor, simple friends who are not on the make and who consider the boy himself more than they do his pocketbook; who can have a better time with a lad who is intelligent and amusing, sympathetic and congenial over a sandwich and a bottle of beer than they could with a dull, stupid lout of a millionaire no matter how much champagne and caviar he treated them to in a ritzy restaurant.

Of course, when a girl of eighteen is already an accomplished gold-digger and a boy's attraction for her consists not in the way his hair grows around his temples, or his keen line of conversation, or his having a way with him, but in how much he can spend on her, it's a gift.

She was born that way, and there is nothing much that anybody can say to her. She will always get orchids and sables and limousines out of men. But I would like to beg her, as she is strong, to be merciful and to show a little pity to her victims.

No other women in the world do more harm than do these demanding women. No other women wreck more men, and especially are they dangerous to boys who lack the knowledge of the world to recognize them for the common grafters they are and the courage to refuse their demands.

When I see one of these girls who makes a boy spend more on her than he can afford, I always think of a story that a proprietor of a big jewelry store told me. He said he knew a boy who was fine and manly, who had risen to a place of trust and who had every prospect of a successful life ahead of him.

One day this boy came into the jewelry shop with a pretty little soft-looking girl with whom he was obviously in love. While they waited for the boy's watch to be set, the girl asked the boy in a jocular way if he would give her anything in the case that she liked. Thinking it all a joke, he replied: "Oh, of course, all of them." "Well," she said, "I'll take that bracelet," pointing to a $2,000 glittering bauble. "You don't mean that," said the jeweler.

But she did. She got her claws on it, and the boy lacked the courage to tear it off her arm. Instead, with a trembling hand, he wrote a cheque for money he did not have, and that he stole to get, and that sent him to the penitentiary.

And there is another thing I would remind little Miss Gimme, who thinks her friends are simps to go with boys who have no cars and who can't afford to take them to high-priced places. Nine-tenths of the men who are rich at middle-age had to count their pennies in their twenties. Many a boy who has to walk his sweetheart to the neighborhood movies buys his wife a limousine later on.

* * * * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—My wife, to whom I was very devoted, has been dead a number of years, and as I am in the full vigor of life, I would like to marry again. But I am very fearful of hurting my grown daughter who, with her husband and two babies, make their home with me. I worship her and she is a most devoted daughter, but I desire other companionship. I know that it would hurt her very much that any one was taking the place of her mother. She has a good husband and darling children, but she also wants to monopolize me. How can this situation be managed without wounding any one?

X. Y. Z.

Answer—I think middle-aged widows and widowers make a great mistake when they let their grown and married children keep them from marrying again if they so desire, and provided they make a suitable choice of a second mate.

People who are beginning to age need companionship far more than they ever did before, and they need their own homes in which they can indulge their own whims and tastes. These things even the most devoted children cannot give them, because they do not belong to the same generation. They have not the same desires. The things that entertain one, do not entertain and amuse the other. Mother and father want to sit by the radio of an evening and nurse their rheumatism and read a good book. Son and daughter, who belong to the young married set, want to go places and do things, and one or the other must be sacrificed unless mother or father marries and gets a companion of his or her own age.

Besides, as is perfectly right, son and daughter are absorbed in their mates and their children and their lives, and so father and mother are often left lonely enough. After son and daughter have got over the shock of realizing that father or mother is still young enough to have a life of his or her own they find it a great relief and for the happiness of all concerned to have some one take over the responsibility of keeping the old parent entertained, amused and happy.

Uncle Wiggily's Buzzer

By HOWARD R. GARIS

When Mr. Lontail, the mouse lady mother of Jillie and Jollie, called to them that Uncle Wiggily was there you should have heard them squeak with delight. No, on second thought, perhaps it is just as well you didn't hear Jillie and Jollie squeak. You might have thought something dreadful had happened.

But it was nothing like that. It was just very good news.

"Oh, goodie! Goodie! Goodie! Goodie!" laughed Jillie.

"Are there rubber erasers in them, as in regular pencil boxes?" asked Jollie. "I make many mistakes writing with pencils so I must erase them."

"You will find rubber erasers in each box I have for you," said Mr. Longears. "Of course, since these are home-made boxes the erasers are the same. Can you guess what I made the erasers from?"

"From pieces of old rubber boots that Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear, didn't use any more. Pieces of his old boots made fine erasers. Now tell me how you like your pencil boxes."

DELIGHTED

Jillie and Jollie were delighted, you may be sure. As I have told you in other stories, Uncle Wiggily made pencil boxes for the mice children, as their mother was too poor to buy pencil boxes in the 12 and 12 cent store.

"They're much nicer than store boxes," said Jillie as she took out a pen made from one of the feather quills of Grandfather Goosey Gander.

He drew some black marks on a paper with one of the pencils from his box and, pretending he had made mistakes, he erased them. "They rub out like anything!" said Jollie.

He and his sister were so pleased with the pencil boxes, which Uncle Wiggily had made from white bark he gnawed off a birch tree, they could hardly wait for next day to take them to school.

But at last next day came, as it always does if you wait long enough. When the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Tree School rang the bell Jollie and Jillie put their pencil boxes on their desks.

They had little use for them during the morning classes, but after recess Miss Mouse said:

"Now we are going to have a writing lesson. Take your pens from your pencil boxes and write as nicely as you can on the paper."

LOUD BUZZING NOISE

"Oh! Oh!" squeaked Jillie.

"What is it?" Miss Mouse asked.

"I don't know!" said Jillie. "But there's a buzzer in my pencil box. It wasn't there when I came to school this morning. It buzzes so hard I'm afraid to open it. Oh, dear!"

"I didn't buy it. Uncle Wiggily made it," said Jillie. "And here he comes now!" she said, looking from the window. "Oh, I'm so glad! Uncle Wiggily, there's a buzzer in my pencil box!" she cried.

"Hum! I must see about that," said the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose. "I didn't put a buzzer in the box. Let me look." He opened the box and out flew a big, buzzing late June Bug. "How did you get shut in Jillie's pencil box?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Jackie Bow Wow caught me and put me in there for fun during recess," buzzed the June Bug as he flew out the window. Jackie laughed, but it wasn't so much fun when he had to stay in after school. But such things will happen. Jackie said he was sorry.

And if the jumping rope will stand still long enough to have a new dress tried on, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily in a cornfield.

CONVERSION OF QUEBEC DEBT

Bill Approved By Assembly Clears Way, But No Early Move Planned

Canadian Press

Quebec, Oct. 29.—Conversion of part if not the entire debt of the province of Quebec is authorized in a measure sponsored by Provincial Treasurer Martin B. Fisher and adopted on division by the Quebec Legislative Assembly yesterday.

The measure did not mean the government would immediately convert the provincial debt, Premier Maurice Duplessis said in explaining the bill. He said it gave the government power to do so if desired and at the same time enabled it to secure advantage of lower money rates.

In bringing down his budget ten days ago, Provincial Treasurer Fisher told the House the net funded debt as published by the treasury department in the official gazette for the end of the fiscal year June, 1936, was $130,643,614.

But, he declared, as computed by the Union Nationale government, after investigating the provincial financial situation, the province's total liabilities were $15[illegible]8,620, to which he added a recent $51,000,000 loan less a maturing loan of $10,000,000 bringing the total outstanding bonds to $200,528,629.

PASSENGERS ASHORE

Dublin, Oct. 29.—Sixteen passengers, four of them children, landed at Dublin yesterday evening from the Ss. American Shipper.

They showed no effects of the buffeting the United States Lines ship received as she drifted helplessly in heavy seas off the Irish coast.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

Good Way to Treat Piles

Most pile sufferers seem to think that their trouble is just a local condition. This is only partly true. Dr. Leonhardt, after years of study, learned one great aggravating cause of piles was an internal congestion, holding back return blood flow from the lower bowel, with increasing pain and misery.

Dr. Leonhardt also learned the proper way to treat such piles was with an internal treatment which would attack a cause; that was the best way to get satisfying relief. He worked out his prescription, Hem-Roid, with the idea that by reaching the cause, more lasting benefit and greater freedom from piles would be had.

Hem-Roid is an internal treatment. Its medication is directed to correcting congestion which causes or aggravates piles in the majority of cases. Once this is done, relief quickly follows.

Hem-Roid is a very effective, easy and pleasant way to treat piles. Usually definite results will be seen the first day. MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Company stores, or any druggist can supply you and if you are not pleased with the first bottle, you may have your money back. Freighter Adrift In Atlantic Gales

Ss. Afghanistan Loses Steering Gear When Midway Between Scotland and Labrador

New York, Oct. 29.—The British freighter Afghanistan, believed to be enroute from Tynemouth, England, to Montreal, was reported by MacKay radio to have flashed word late last night she was drifting in heavy gales in mid-Atlantic.

The position she reported placed the British freighter in mid-Atlantic, about 950 miles west of Scotland.

She lay about 500 miles north of the regular ship lanes between the United States and Great Britain, at a position approximately midway between the coasts of Scotland and Labrador.

Her owner is the Hindustan Steam Shipping Company of London.

She was built in 1917 by the Sunderland Shipbuilding Company. The ship is 385 feet in length and has a 53-foot beam.

TELLS OF GAINS IN AUSTRALIA

New South Wales Education Minister Visits Toronto

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Canada in her present state is economically and industrially comparable to Australia at the lowest ebb of her collapse, Hon. D. H. Drummond, minister of education of New South Wales, said on his arrival here yesterday evening.

Industries in Australia today were thriving, Mr. Drummond said, due to the Australian government's policy of creating employment by donating large portions of the capital needed for public works. The money was used for wages that took workmen off relief rolls and started subsidiary industries operating to provide necessary materials for building.

The policy had proved successful, said Mr. Drummond, and Australians, well out of the depression, were now thinking of the question of defence. Australians felt their cause was with the Mother Country, but like Canadians, they felt no participation should be expected of them unless they joined in the discussions which decide whether the Empire should fight, he said.

Scores Attacks On Security Act

Roosevelt in Speech Says Some Few Employers Misleading Workers

Associated Press

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Oct. 29.—President Roosevelt reiterated today that a "handful" of employers were spreading pay-envelope "propaganda" against the United States Social Security Act and linked with it a suggestion that it "might be well for them to move to some other nation in which they have greater faith."

Some employers were trying to "mislead and coerce labor," he said.

They were seeking repeal of the act, the President said, because under it they had to put up $3 to the workers' $1 to pay for pensions and insurance.

Des Moines, Oct. 29.—Arrested on a charge of violating Iowa election laws by distributing in pay envelopes unsigned notices "tending to create sentiment against President Roosevelt," Albert Penn, Des Mines manufacturer, will be given a hearing November 12.

Federal Conciliator E. H. Fitzgerald predicted: "Probably there will not be any strike at all."

MIGHT BE LIMITED

Union leaders said: If a strike were called tonight, it was possible it would take effect only against four major west coast steamship companies. The negotiating committee, which was empowered last week to call the strike, had reached no decision on this point.

Such action observers said, probably would keep a walkout from spreading to the Atlantic coast, where 1,000 left wing seamen meeting in New York voted to join Pacific maritime unions if they struck.

Decision on this point hinged on a meeting this morning between unions and the coast committee of shipowners, headed by T. G. Plant, which last night informed unions further negotiations for new working agreements would be "useless." Union leaders indicated they would submit their proposals direct to company presidents if necessary.

After the coast committee's announcement the Shipowners' Association, representing companies operating coastwise freighters in the so-called steam schooner trade, met and reached tentative agreements with the Sailors' Union of the Pacific and the marine firemen. Indications were an agreement was reached early today with the marine cooks and stewards.

ENGINEERS AGREE

Agreements remained to be reached with the marine engineers, American Radio Telegraphists' Association and the masters, mates and pilots.

NEW YORK POSTPONEMENT

New York, Oct. 29.—Left wing seamen of the port of New York followed the lead of Pacific coast maritime unions today in suspending for twenty-five hours a strike called in support of the western dispute over a new working agreement.

The strike was voted last night at a mass meeting attended by about 1,000 seamen and the men prepared to quit work at 3 a.m. E.S.T.

Negotiations went ahead, meanwhile, in a dispute between the Luckenbach Steamship Lines and the International Longshoremen's Association, after a strike was called off to permit further parleys.

The British House of Commons once adjourned to see eleven-year-old William Betty, boy prodigy, play in Hamlet. Betty could master the most difficult Shakespearean parts with ease.

Has Big Ship

CAPT. G. R. PARRY, R.D., R.N.R. commander of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain, snapped on the liner's bridge last Saturday just before she sailed for Southampton from Quebec. Capt. Parry went to the fleet's flagship from the Ss. Duchess of Bedford.

Younger Captains For Large Liners

As soon as Capt. Britten was taken ill an urgent message was sent to Capt. P. V. Peel, just starting a holiday with his wife at Chandlers Ford. He responded immediately and the Queen Mary sailed for New York only seven minutes behind schedule.

RAN AWAY TO SEA

Sir Edgar's death, at the age of sixty-two, brought to a close a colorful marine career started nearly half a century ago. He was born at Bradford, in the County of Yorkshire and as a lad of thirteen went to sea, without parental consent, and joined the crew of a barque, as an apprentice.

He spent three years trading to South America. He served in sailing vessels for ten years and had the distinction of holding a master's certificate both for sail and steam.

He joined the Cunard Line in 1901 as fourth officer of the Ivernia. His Cunard career was interrupted for a two-year course of naval training aboard H.M.S. Vengeance. His first Cunard command was the Phrygia. Then he became staff captain of the Lusitania. During the war years he was staff captain of the Aquitania, after which he commanded the Mauretania and the Aquitania. At one time or another in his sea career, Sir Edgar had commanded also the Compania, the Lycia, the Ascania, the Saxonia, the Pennonia, the Andania, the Laconia, the Samaria and the Berengaria. He received his knighthood from the hands of the late King George V, in 1934.

"PRETTY NICE SHIP"

A grey-eyed, square-jawed Yorkshireman, but with a dry sense of humor, he commented "She's a pretty nice ship" when he first looked over the Queen Mary.

Sir Edgar Britten was a modest man and quiet in his speech, but when occasion demanded he could use some sailorly words with emphasis. On arrival in New York at the end of the Queen Mary's first voyage he was greeted as "Sir Edgar" by a ship news reporter whose acquaintance he had made on many previous crossings. "Sir Edgar be damned," exploded the commodore. "It's Britten to you."

And so the small boy, who ran away to sea, rose to the highest rank of his chosen profession. He has become almost a legendary figure in England and his name will long live in the annals of the sea, for it was Sir Edgar, with the Queen Mary, who regained for England the supremacy of the seas, after Italy, France and Germany had held the Blue Ribbon of the Atlantic for some years.

Hospital authorities reported his condition fairly good.

RAILWAY MAN HAS RETIRED

H. G. Reid, Canadian National Employee, Leaves Service at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—With fifty-three years of railroad service behind him, together with the proud record of never having booked out for a day's sickness during that time, H. G. Reid, assistant general superintendent of motive power, Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg, retired from active service today. On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Reid will leave for the south, where they will spend some time visiting their son.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Reid was the guest of honor at a meeting of his associates and was presented with a purse. Vice-president A. E. Warren, on behalf of the employees of the western region, made the presentation and paid high tribute to the fine contribution Mr. Reid had made to railway life and development during his long railway career.

Mr. Reid dates his service back to March, 1884, and has the unique distinction of having fired an engine for three years back in the wood-burning days. He was then located in North Bay with the Canadian Pacific Railway. Since that time he has been closely associated with every development of steam railway life. He occupied positions of laborer, fireman, engineer, district master mechanic and master mechanic and left the service of the C.P.R. in 1916 to join the national transcontinental railway as master mechanic.

When the national transcontinental railway was co-ordinated with others in 1922 he became general master mechanic and later assistant general superintendent of motive power, and continued in this position until the present date.

Around the Docks

Aorangi In Port This Afternoon From "Down Under"—Two Freighters Stow Lumber at Ogden Point—Ships Due From Europe and Montreal — Lumber In the Hold of Damaged Freighter—Victorians Going to San Francisco

Inbound from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu, the Canadian Australasian motorship Aorangi, Capt. T. V. Hill, reached the Outer Docks this afternoon. She was running more than twelve hours ahead of schedule. She expects to get away from Victoria in time to reach Vancouver before midnight.

There are 100 passengers aboard the liner in all classes. About twenty-five will disembark here, a number of them planning to take the Ss. Princess Marguerite an hour later for Seattle.

Among the incoming travelers are Hon. Walter Nash, Minister of Finance of New Zealand, en route to London with several officials, and Rev. Pascoe Goard, British-Israelite leader well-known in Victoria, who is returning from a lecture tour of Australia and New Zealand.

LOADING LUMBER

The freighters Caledonian Monarch and Baron Fairlie are today at Ogden Point, both loading for the United Kingdom. The former is stowing 400,000 feet and the latter close to 1,000,000 feet. King Brothers cleared the King Arthur from Cowichan Bay yesterday evening. She took 450,000 feet there and shifted overnight to Crofton.

DISCHARGING NITRATES

With one of the biggest cargoes of nitrates in some months, the Greek freighter Rokos is at James Island. She has 2,300 tons from Hopewell, Virginia, and will be at the island for four or five days. In November she will come to Victoria for lumber.

INBOUND SHIPS

The Ms. Pacific Commerce is now nearing port from Montreal and is expected to arrive here tomorrow evening in service for the Vancouver-Lawrence Line. She is bringing in a good parcel of general freight.

Also due tomorrow evening or early Saturday morning is the Dutch motorship Dinteldyk, which left San Francisco yesterday at noon. She is coming in from Rotterdam and London and has 175 tons of general freight for this port. Before proceeding to Vancouver she will load doors and cooperage stock here for London. There are four passengers aboard the ship for Victoria.

LUMBER IN HOLD

The damaged British freighter Temple Moat, now being repaired alongside the Yarrow dock in Esquimalt Harbor, has 900,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber in her hold. It was put aboard at Port Alberni, from which port the ship was bound for Crofton when she was in collision early Saturday morning near Race Rocks with the American freighter Maunalei.

Work is going ahead twenty-four hours a day on the Temple Moat. Because of this members of the crew, whose quarters were badly damaged, are staying at boarding houses in Esquimalt. The captain is remaining aboard.

GOING SOUTH

Victorians who are going to San Francisco by the Ss. President Grant at midnight Friday will leave here tomorrow afternoon to make connections at Seattle.

The Grant will reach San Francisco next Monday morning and will arrive back in Seattle next Thursday morning, sailing two days later from Victoria for the Orient. She arrived here yesterday from across the Pacific.

Inquiry Into Ship Disaster

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Wireless equipment might have averted the tragic loss of lives in the sinking of the Sand Merchant, Toronto-operated sandsucker, in Lake Erie, October 17, according to five survivors who gave evidence here yesterday before Capt. Henry W. King, examiner of masters and mates, conducting the inquiry into the disaster.

The five men, Capt. Graham MacLellan, master of the Sand Merchant; John L. Ideson, Jack Meuse, Fred Morse and Herman Dault, declined to discuss the disaster fully as they entered the office of Capt. King where the inquiry was held in camera, but expressed their opinion the nineteen lives lost when the vessel foundered might have been saved if help could have been summoned in time. Eight bodies have been recovered.
